

Neutrals Seek New Cure For Berlin Crisis

Paris, Nov. 22 (AP)—Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina said today the Russian answer to his Berlin currency questionnaire "appears to be satisfactory."

The November president of the United Nations Security Council said, however, a comparison of the Russian reply with the answers from the United States, Britain and France, expected to be delivered to him today, is necessary to decide if a basis of agreement on the Berlin crisis can be reached.

Bramuglia said he had scheduled a meeting of the six "neutral" members of the Security Council to begin as soon as the western replies are received. If the six neutrals decide they can work out a new plan to end the Berlin dispute, it is likely the full council will be convened by the end of this month to consider their plan formally.

The six nation meeting probably will be held tonight, Bramuglia said, "because time is pressing and the search for a solution now has been delayed for over a week."

The six nations who will meet are Argentina, Belgium, Canada, China, Colombia and Syria.

Russia's 10-page reply to the currency questionnaire was delivered Saturday to Bramuglia. The Argentine said today he believes there are "good chances" of agreement on Berlin's currency snarl.

Western power fiscal experts from Washington, London and Berlin held a weekend-long meeting writing coordinated answers.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, president of the general assembly, said yesterday there are reasonable prospects for a Berlin settlement within the next three weeks.

Evatt said in a radio interview (CBS) that the dispute between the western powers and Russia is "a question of time and not of principle." The main problem, he said, is to draft an acceptable time schedule for lifting the Soviet blockade of Berlin and introducing Soviet zone currency as Berlin's only tender.

Russia wants the two steps to take place simultaneously. The western powers say they will not discuss a settlement until the blockade is lifted.

Dock Strike Delays Two Biggest Liners

Elizabeth And Mary Idle At British Moorings

Southampton, England, Nov. 22 (AP)—The world's two largest ocean liners, the Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mary, idled at their dock moorings today.

The Cunard White Star line said the ships' westbound trips had been delayed because of the Longshoremen's strike in New York. The Elizabeth's crew also is on strike, in sympathy with the American strike.

The line cancelled the voyage of the Elizabeth an hour before sailing time Saturday, disappointing 1,600 passengers.

"The ship cannot sail before Tuesday afternoon at the earliest," the line announced.

The Queen Mary, scheduled to sail for New York next Wednesday, probably will not get away until Friday, the line said.

Meanwhile, passengers aboard the Elizabeth lived comfortably at a daily expense of $20,000 to the line.

Six hundred persons awaiting the liner at Cherbourg, France, were sent back to Paris, also at the line's expense.

Missing Colorado Co-ed, 17, Turns Up Near Yorkville, Ill.

Yorkville, Ill., Nov. 22 (AP)—Lillian De Bell, 17-year-old Colorado co-ed, left for home last night with her mysterious three-week disappearance still unexplained.

Lillian's father, John De Bell, an Arvada, Colo., truck farmer, and her sister, Virginia, 19, came to accompany Lillian home. She greeted them with hugs and kisses.

Lillian was found by Sheriff William E. Hayden early Saturday as she was walking along a nearby highway in a snowstorm. She had no money and at first refused to give any information about herself. Before leaving for home, however, it was learned that the girl went directly to Chicago from Greeley and worked there several days as a typist for a mail order concern under the name of Linda Harris.

In Chicago she lived at a Y. W. C. A. and left there Friday night without her luggage.

Alaskan Road Gives British Aviatix, 25, Safe Crash Landing

Fairbanks, Alaska, Nov. 22 (AP)—An old bush pilot trick paid off for Mrs. Morrow-Tait, round-the-world flier, and her navigator, Michael Townsend yesterday in a crash landing 200 miles south-east of here.

Neither was injured in the crash. The trick is to follow a highway just in case there might be the need of an emergency landing.

The 25-year-old British aviatix had been experiencing engine trouble for several days prior to her takeoff yesterday from Anchorage on another leg of her round-the-world flight.

So she followed the Glenn highway, which heads northeast to junction with the Alaska highway.

Her plane crashed near the road 30 miles southwest of Tok junction in 30-below zero weather.

The Alaska highway patrol picked up the fliers and took them to Tanacross.

Chase S. Osborn Reported Weaker

Albany, Ga., Nov. 22 (AP)—The condition of former Governor Chase S. Osborn of Michigan, who has been a hospital patient several weeks, was reported less favorable by a physician today.

Osborn was reported last night to be in a little better condition, the spokesman said. He added that the 83-year-old philanthropist has shown remarkable recuperative powers, but his general condition was "not encouraging."

Hope Grows For End Of Dock Tie-Up

(By The Associated Press)

Negotiators in the 13-day-old East Coast Longshoremen's strike held some hope of settlement today, but the top federal mediator declared "I'm not predicting anything."

There were reports that the AFL Longshore Union had received a welfare plan offer from employers in addition to the 10-cent hourly wage increase proposal just before the New York talks recessed Saturday.

The union has halved its demand for a 50-cent hourly hike for its 65,000 workers whose present base rate is $1.75.

Meanwhile, shipping was tied up from Maine to Virginia. In New York, 3,500 AFL teamsters struck against 350 trucking companies. Local 282 of the teamsters struck against 350 trucking companies. Local 282 of the teamsters is insisting on a 22 1/2 cent hourly wage increase. Employers refuse to pay more than 20 1/2 cents in addition to the present scale of $53.90 to $71.40 for a 40-hour week.

More Wage Increases

The American Federation of Labor convention drew toward its close today in Cincinnati. O. Delegates considered what they will do about a committee's recommendations that the convention favor a defensive military alliance against Russia and severance of trade relations with the Soviet Union.

Convention leaders said they hoped to finish work tonight at Lawrence, Mass., the AFL United Textile Workers' union voted in convention to seek a 10-cent general hourly wage increase for 40,000 woolen and worsted workers in 55 mills throughout the country when new contract talks begin Feb. 1. The present average scale for such work is $1.32 an hour.

The CIO began its 10th convention today at Portland, Ore., with the anti-Communist right wing in full control. Further blows at the dwindling left-wing faction were expected in the sessions.

In his opening report, CIO President Philip Murray used an eight-point program for a "healthy domestic economy."

It called for price controls, an excess profits tax, control of essential materials, all-out attack on business monopoly, farm price supports, a one dollar an hour minimum wage, low-cost public housing, and plant expansion in basic industries.

Duff is being mentioned in some GOP quarters as a possible candidate to succeed Rep. Hugh D. Scott, Jr., who was beckoned to the national chairmanship by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The 65-year-old Pennsylvanian represents to many the party's anti-Dewey forces who took a licking at the Philadelphia convention. They have bounced back into the limelight since Dewey's defeat by President Truman.

Duff made his peace with Dewey during the general election campaign.

But he did about everything he could to oppose Dewey's nomination. He lost a fight within his own state's delegation when Senator Edward Martin and other leaders plumped for the New York governor.

But Duff held 28 of Pennsylvania's 73 ballots in line for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio through the first and second ballots. He previously had tried to get Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan openly into the race.

Out of that battle grew up a close association between Duff and Vandenberg, as well as with Taft and other GOP leaders.

Efforts To Banish Filibusters May Be Delayed By Senate

Compromise With Dixie Democrats First Job

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders may postpone any effort to block future filibusters while they seek a compromise with Dixie opponents of civil rights measures.

Reporting this, a Democratic official said one plan under discussion is to have a committee study the whole question of revising Senate rules.

As the code now stands, a score of southerners can prevent the Senate from acting on any civil rights measure by talking indefinitely against a motion to take up such a bill.

Cloture Rule Worthless

The cloture—closing of debate—rule applies only when a bill actually is before the Senate. It doesn't work against a motion.

For that reason, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told reporters that, for practical purposes, "the existing cloture rule isn't worth anything."

He noted that opponents can filibuster any motion to change the rules, as Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) already has predicted southern members will do. Vandenberg said he favors a rule change to make cloture—which requires approval of two-thirds of those voting—apply at anytime.

Emergencies Foreseen

On another filibuster front, Vandenberg proposed that the Senate change its rules to permit 90 per cent of its members to force a vote at any time on a national emergency measure.

This wouldn't affect the civil rights controversy, because at least 20 senators, more than 20 per cent of its members, always oppose such proposals.

But Vandenberg said the time may come when Congress must act in a vital hurry. He said that under the present rules it could be blocked for days by three or four senators who wanted to talk.

"In times like these, when you can't tell over night what crisis you are going to meet, I don't think it's fair to leave the country at the mercy of a hung jury," he declared.

Purge Is Predicted In GOP Leadership

Gov. Duff Of Pennsylvania Factor In New Lineup

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—A move to purge the present leadership of the Republican national committee was said today to be shaping up around Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania.

Duff is being mentioned in some GOP quarters as a possible candidate to succeed Rep. Hugh D. Scott, Jr., who was beckoned to the national chairmanship by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Truman And Marshall Map Strategy In China

Big 9 Picks Wildcats As Bowl Team

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 22 (AP)—Northwestern's second-place Wildcats today unanimously were named to represent the Big Nine in the Rose bowl next New Year's Day.

The entirely expected selection was made in a telegraphic poll of the league's nine faculty representatives and announced by Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson.

Undeclared Michigan was the Big Nine's champion for the second straight year, but the Wolverines were ineligible for a return trip to Pasadena. A conference restriction bans any team from making more than one Rose bowl appearance in three years.

Thus Northwestern, beaten only by Michigan in six league starts, received the bid to face the Pacific Coast Conference representative in the Battle of Roses.

The Big Nine holds a decisive edge in the two Rose bowl classics thus far played. Illinois took the 1947 inaugural of the five-year series with a 45-14 win over U. C. L. A., and Michigan last New Year's thumped Southern California, 49-0.

STRANGLES ON PEANUT

Hunters Missing Since Friday In Peninsula Storm

State police, conservation officers, sheriff's deputies and private citizens pressed their search today (Monday) for a boy and a man missing in Michigan's storm battered Upper Peninsula hunting area.

Both have been missing since Friday.

Hope was fading for the rescue of 16-year-old Robert J. Lapin of Champion, lost in a heavily wooded area nine miles west of Ishpeming.

State police said the boy was lightly clad and lost in an area where more than 15 inches of snow had fallen in two days.

The second hunter, Orlyn Pepper, 33, of Addison, was missing in the Michigamme area of Baraga county.

His wife held out hope that he would be found, pointing out that he is an experienced hunter and had blankets and other supplies.

The storm was reported abating in most of the Upper Peninsula with only light, intermittent snow and drizzle still falling this morning. The weather bureau said these are not expected to last and no new storm is in prospect.

Coast Guard Hunts Lost Navy Airman Off Pelee Island

Detroit, Nov. 22 (AP)—Coast guardsmen searched Lake Erie south of Pelee Island today for a navy flier who crashed in his Hellcat fighter plane Saturday.

Lt. (JG) Robert J. Sonderman, 26, of River Rouge, was on a tactical maneuver in a flight from the Grosse Ile naval base when his plane went down.

Grappling operations were started in the area three miles south of Pelee Island after searching planes discovered an oil slick. Sonderman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Sonderman of Wapakoneta, O. A twin brother, Donald, lives in River Rouge.

Venezuela Denies President Arrested

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 22 (AP)—Official sources have denied that President Romulo Gallegos has been placed under house arrest by army leaders.

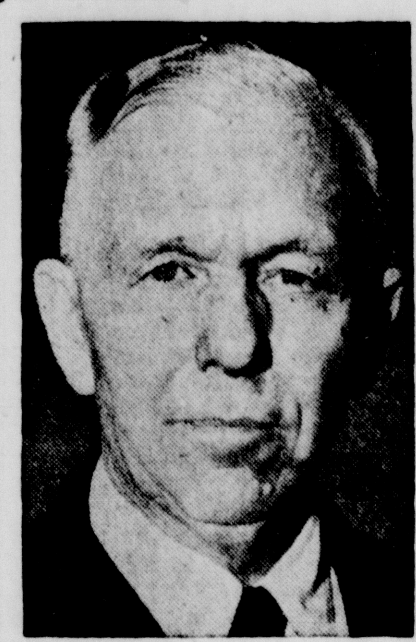

(The report of Gallegos arrest came from Willemstad, Curacao. It also said high-ranking army officers had demanded the president's resignation and formation of a new coalition government.)

There were no unusual activities last night in Caracas, where strict censorship was in effect. It was known, however, that Gallegos spent the day in the presidential palace and received calls from government officials and members of his Democratic action party.

PAY BOOST ACCEPTED

Detroit (AP)—Workers at two stores of the Bond Clothing Co. voted Sunday to end a two-day walkout and accept a company offer of a $4 weekly pay boost.

One hundred members of the United Retail and Wholesale Department Store Employees (CIO) had walked out Friday.

GOES INTO HULL—Arriving from Paris this morning, Secretary of State Marshall went into conference with President Truman to tackle problems pertaining to U. S. foreign policies, headed by the crisis in China and the Berlin blockade.

Mr. Truman and Marshall had a variety of other topics for talk. These included France's resistance to American-British plans to boost West German production to aid the European recovery program, currently costing the U. S. $6,000,000,000 a year. There also was the projected North Atlantic military alliance binding the U. S. and Canada to Western Europe and the certainty that the U. S. will have to foot the bill to pay for military equipment for the European members.

They said they will work to change this interpretation.

The bishops declared there is danger of judicial "establishment of secularism" that would "ban God from public life."

The bishops took particular exception to the high court's 8 to 1 decision last March that religious sects may not use public schools to teach their beliefs.

That case stemmed from a protest by Mrs. Vashti McCollum, an atheist, that the Champaign, Ill., school board violated the first amendment to the constitution by permitting religious education in the school buildings after regular hours. She said her 12-year-old son was "embarrassed" because he was the only one in his class who did not take the voluntary instruction.

This interpretation of the first amendment, the bishops said, bars "cooperation between government and organized religion in the training of future citizens." Such cooperation, they added, has been "taken for granted" in this country so long as "no preferential treatment of one religion over another is involved."

Singer Breen Lost On Wisconsin Flight

Plane Missing On Trip To Deer Hunting Area

Hayward, Wis., Nov. 22 (AP)—Five aircraft took off amid snow flurries at Waukesha today to conduct an aerial search for the plane which disappeared yesterday while carrying singer Bobby Breen to a remote hunting area.

Buck Webster, whose flying service owns the missing single-engine Stinson, led the flight off at 10 a. m. (CST). He said the planes would refuel at Stevens Point, Wis., then fan out and search through the northwest angle which includes Sawyer county and Hayward, the town which was Breen's destination.

The searching mission is manned by volunteer pilots.

Just before leaving Waukesha, Webster said he believed the plane must have landed in yesterday afternoon's early darkness and that the two occupants remained with the ship. He added that a red aircraft reported by a deer hunter near Hayward at 3:30 p. m. yesterday could not have been the Breen ship because of the time element involved in the 300 mile flight.

Sawyer county Sheriff William Sands said today a posse sent out at midnight to investigate the report has returned without finding any trace of the plane.

Road Crash Kills Sisters On Way To Funeral Of Father

By the Associated Press

Two sisters enroute to their father's funeral were among six persons who were killed over the weekend as a result of accidents on Michigan highways.

The Misses Dahlia Smith, 37, and her sister Winifred, 34, both of Pontiac, were killed and four other persons injured when their cars collided Saturday north of Cadillac.

Police said the sisters were enroute to the funeral of their father and were riding in an auto driven by Lawrence Webster, 31, of Pontiac.

BOMBAY HAS TORNADO

Bombay, India, Nov. 22 (AP)—A tornado lashed Bombay last night and killed at least three persons. Officials counted 50 seriously wounded. Hundreds more were also reported hurt.

Transportation services were disrupted. Industrial production also was halted.

Court Edict Called Blow At Churches

Ruling Against Religion In Schools Protested

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—The nation's Roman Catholic bishops accuse the supreme court of barring "any cooperation between government and organized religion which would aid religion."

This is the effect of the way the court interprets the "establishment of religion" clause of the constitution, the bishops contend.

Congress meant, they said, that there shall be no official national religion, no federal preference among religions, and no federal interference in church-state relations of the states. But the bishops say the court ignores logic and the cooperation between church and state that is always taken for granted.

Work For Revision

They said they will work to change this interpretation.

The bishops declared there is danger of judicial "establishment of secularism" that would "ban God from public life."

The bishops took particular exception to the high court's 8 to 1 decision last March that religious sects may not use public schools to teach their beliefs.

Such cooperation, they added, has been "taken for granted" in this country so long as "no preferential treatment of one religion over another is involved."

Other Issues Loom

But urgent as it is because of recent Communist victories, the problem of China does not necessarily outrank other issues before Mr. Truman and his Secretary of State.

It seemed very probable that one of the first concerns of both men would be to determine Marshall's future plans. In advance of the meeting the betting was that he would remain in the cabinet beyond the beginning of the

Flint Bus Strike Ends; 10-Cent Pay Increase Accepted

Flint, Mich., Nov. 22 (AP)—Striking CIO drivers today accepted a 10-cent an hour wage increase to end a 66-day strike against the Flint Trolley Coach Co.

The CIO Transport Workers union withdrew its last minute objections and agreed to accept a clause whereby the contract may be terminated by either side within 30 days of its expiration.

The wage increase brings the average hourly rate for the 125 drivers to $1.30. In addition the company will provide one cent an hour to a union welfare fund.

Bus service on a limited scale will be resumed Friday, the company announced.

FOUR INJURED IN CAR MISHAP

John Iversen Of Fox Is In Serious Condition

Four persons were injured, one seriously, at 8:25 p. m. Saturday on US-241 west of Escanaba when a car driven by Harry G. Iversen, 23, of Chicago, struck two of the large elm trees seven-tenths of a mile west of the city limits on Memory Lane.

John Iversen, 62, of Fox, father of the driver, was thrown from the car when it struck the second tree head-on. The front axle of the car was on his head and the weight of the car was lifted by persons arriving at the accident scene and the injured man was removed.

At St. Francis hospital today the condition of John Iversen was reported as "fair—not very good." George Gunderson, also of Fox, and a passenger in the car, received head injuries. His condition was reported as "fair."

Harry G. Iversen, the driver, received cuts on his face and left knee and will be released from the hospital today. His wife, June Lee, 23, suffered face injuries but her condition was reported as "good."

Sheriff's officers and city police investigated the accident.

They reported that Iversen was driving east toward Escanaba when the car left the pavement on the right side and traveled 285 feet on the shoulder before the right rear of the car swerved against a tree. The car continued another 60 feet before it struck another tree head-on.

The pavement was wet and the shoulders of the highway snowy. Officers said the car was being driven at "excessive" speed. The auto was almost demolished, they reported.

Father of 5 Girls Excited by Triplets, Two Boys Included

Cleveland, Nov. 22 (AP)—In the last 12 years, Fred Herman had paced back and forth outside a maternity ward five times. Each time the news had been: "It's a girl."

Fred, a 36-year-old landscape gardener, had been hoping for a boy each time.

This time Fred figured the odds might favor him. Last week, physicians told him and his 29-year-old wife Jean that a multiple birth seemed likely.

So last night he was pacing back and forth again, still a nervous father.

The first report was: "A boy." Two minutes later: "A girl." Three minutes later: "A boy." Happy and excited, Fred exclaimed, "now I have to get myself another job. Do you know what that really pays?"

It was the third time in the last eight days that triplets had been delivered in the city.

Lifers Who Escaped At Their Mother's Funeral Recaptured

Richmond, Mo., Nov. 22 (AP)—A life-term convict who used his mother's funeral as a ruse to escape, was back in the penitentiary today after a week's freedom.

Officers recaptured George Ruston, 41-year-old convicted murderer, on a farm 18 miles northwest of here.

Last Sunday state prison guards took Ruston and a brother, Ernest, 28, to Excelsior Springs, Mo., for funeral services for their mother.

Ernest Ruston was captured Friday in Richmond.

Sheriff E. W. Craven said George Ruston was taken yesterday on the farm of Robert O'Dell. Ruston's sister, Anna Mae Ruston, lives on the O'Dell farm, the sheriff said.

The Rustons were convicted of slaying Sheriff Roy Patterson and his son, Sam Patterson, near Lamar, Mo., in 1944.

DEER HUNTERS BREAKING CAMP

State Snowmobile On Way To Nimrods

One hunter in the Delta county area, stuck on a back road in his car, was the object of search last night; most hunters in isolated areas were breaking camp to avoid being snowed in; and the conservation department's snowmobile today was dispatched with supplies to marooned hunters near Big Bay in Marquette county.

State police and conservation officers joined in the search, for Irving McKeever, Bond street, Escanaba, who was located at 10 a. m. today in his stalled car on a back road in the Whitefish River area. He was hunting alone and had been out since yesterday morning.

Conservation department district headquarters office in Escanaba reported that Howard Eldred, district game manager, left this morning for Marquette in the state's snowmobile. From Marquette he was to be accompanied by Conservation Officer C. J. McLarty on a trip to marooned hunters on the Panorama Road near Big Bay.

Between 35 and 40 hunting camps are known to be located on the Panorama Road and all of them have been marooned since the recent snowfall. The snowmobile is to be loaded with supplies in the belief the hunters will be short by this time. The road is expected to be opened to traffic within another 24 hours.

The majority of the hunters in the back country of the Upper Peninsula are pushing their cars and trailers out to the main roads as fast as possible. Long line-ups of cars are waiting at St. Ignace to board the state ferries for the return to Lower Michigan.

Young Hunter Who Shot Woman Denied License Until 17

Richard Landmesser, 14, of Rt. 2, Newport, Mich., arraigned Saturday afternoon in juvenile court before Judge William Miller in connection with a fatal deer hunting accident, will be unable to obtain a hunting license until he is 17 under terms of an order entered by the court.

The young hunter accidentally shot and killed Mrs. Helen Simpson, 29, of Mt. Morris, Michigan, near the Simpson camp on the Stonington Peninsula south of Ensign last Tuesday.

By reason of the court order neither the youth, nor his parent or legal guardian, may obtain or procure a hunting license for Landmesser until he is 17 years old. The order invokes, in part, a state statute denying a deer hunting license for five years to any person wounding or killing another in a deer hunting accident.

Andrew Landmesser, father of the boy, was fined $100 and costs by Justice Henry Ranguette of Escanaba for allowing an unaccompanied minor to hunt deer. The law requires that children from 14 to 17 be accompanied by an adult in the woods.

Baby's Smile Helps Mother Untangle Red Tape In Court

New Orleans (AP)—Two-year-old Rodney Callender's bewitching smile and boundless energy helped his mother untangle some legal red tape.

Mrs. A. C. Callender, mother of two and expecting another, was called into city court to face eviction for non-payment of rent.

She explained why: Hurricane water ruined all their clothing recently. Her husband disappeared four months ago.

She hasn't been able to work because of the expected baby. Her only income is $50 a month from the Welfare bureau.

As she talked, Rodney romped about the courtroom with the speed of an accelerated jet.

An attorney stepped up, asked for a continuance to help Mrs. Callender find a solution.

Mrs. Callender glanced around for Rodney. He couldn't be seen. She looked back at the judge—and there was Rodney, sitting in

Will Compete Next At Kingsford

Thirteen members of the Escanaba senior high school debate squad scored four wins in practice tournament with 12 other Upper Michigan schools in Ishpeming Saturday.

The varsity affirmative team, Jane Holderman and Ann Shepeck, won one and lost one; the varsity negative squad with Robert Myrsten and Janet Oberg also won and lost one.

The reserves of EHS won two of five contests.

Larry Stein, Dale Jackson, Mary Sue Fleming, Dora Rose, Dean Shipman, Beverly Feldstein, Ben Nelson, Joanne Barron and Don Olin participated in the debates. Martha Moran attended as an observer.

Mrs. Irene Schiefelbein coaches debate teams and accompanied students to Ishpeming.

The tournament in Ishpeming does not count in points toward final outcome of the debate season. The next debate meeting is scheduled for Kingsford Dec. 11, and finals will be held at NMCE in Marquette in January.

The debate teams at Escanaba began practice just two weeks ago. The topic this year is that the United Nations be revised into a federal world government.

Married Men Now Accepted As U. S. Aviation Cadets

The Air Force has announced that, effective November 15, 1948, married men will be accepted for aviation cadet training. This is a reversal of long standing policy and will make many more men eligible for enlistment as aviation cadets. Formerly, only those who were single and agreed to remain unmarried during the 52 week training period were accepted.

The nation-wide quota for the next class of aviation cadets which will begin training in March, 1949, has been set at 1500. Many young men from Michigan will have an opportunity to become members of this class.

To qualify for appointment as aviation cadets, men must be between the ages of 20 and 26½ years of age, must have received one-half of the credits toward a degree at an accredited college or university or be able to pass an equivalent examination, and must also meet the rigid physical and moral requirements as outlined in current Air Force directives.

Training as an aviation cadet with today's Air Force opens the door to one of the most exciting careers available to young men anywhere. Opportunities for advancement, the intellectual challenge of a most exacting science, security, social usefulness, congenial atmosphere, monetary remuneration—in fact, all those things to be desired in a job is offered by a career in a pilot officer in the Air Force.

Qualified young men may obtain information concerning the aviation cadet training program by visiting the local U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting office located at 1215 Ludington street, Escanaba.

DAILY GARBAGE PICKUP STUDIED

Collections In Business Area Proposed

A group of approximately 15 local businessmen conferred with city officials Saturday morning concerning a proposal for daily garbage pickup. City Engineer Loren Jenkins explained to the businessmen that the city is willing to institute daily garbage service in the business area provided the businessmen will pay the cost.

A survey is now being made in the business area to determine how much each business is willing to pay for the improved garbage service. If sufficient revenue can be obtained in this manner, the service will probably be started after December 1.

City Manager Aronson reported that the city is anxious to cooperate because daily garbage service in the business area would achieve a high degree of sanitation and be an effective weapon in the eradication of rats.

Garbage collections elsewhere in the city would continue to be on a once-a-week basis.

Thaw Helps Clear Blizzard Blockade In Plains States

Chicago, Nov. 22 (AP)—Another general thaw was expected to help again today in removal of the deep snow drifts piled on the great plains by last week's storm in which eight persons died.

While crews still worked at the task of clearing some highways in the area, the temperature climbed yesterday to slightly above freezing and was expected to go a little higher today.

The coldest spots on today's weather map were in the north central states where Sioux Falls, S. D., reported a low of six degrees above zero and Sioux City, Ia., 11 above.

Light snow flurries ranging from a trace to .01 of an inch were reported over the entire southeastern section of the nation, except Florida.

Mental Case Held For Slaying Baby Boy In Hotel Room

St. Louis, Nov. 22 (AP)—A 26-year old man, identified as a former mental patient, was sought for questioning today in the brutal slaying of two-year-old Joseph Nichols.

Secretary Goes Into Huddle On Foreign Crises

new presidential term on January 20.

Persons close to Mr. Truman reported that he intended to urge Marshall to delay his retirement for some months. Marshall's associates noted that he has always considered himself a soldier under orders to the president.

Aside from their personal problems and the China question, subjects which seemed likely to come up for discussion in the course of Marshall's foreign policy report to the president included:

1. Berlin—The hottest point in the cold war in Europe appears certain to remain that way for a long time since, Marshall must report, all efforts at mediation of the crisis to get the Soviet blockade of Berlin listed have now failed.

France vs. Germany—While it has not yet aroused public alarm, state department officials have become deeply concerned over increasing French resistance to the Anglo-American plan to boost western German production under the European recovery program. An estimate of this situation would appear to be essential to a broader evaluation of the outlook for greater political unity and recovery throughout non-Communist Europe.

2. Military alliance—Marshall brings to Washington the latest information on exactly what the western Europeans want in the way of a military alliance with the United States. Weekend reports from London said they want a fifty year pact but will be content with indirect promises of American support in place of an absolute pledge to go to war in event of attack.

3. Lend-lease — Work on this project for the military strengthening of western European countries is not so well advanced as on the more general alliance undertaking. However, proposals for a peacetime lend-lease system seem certain to compose one of Mr. Truman's chief foreign policy problems for the next session of Congress.

4. Global strategy against Communism—In Marshall's view, one of the most difficult and constant problems in foreign policy is to maintain a balance between demands abroad and resources at home. Diplomats expect that at some point the president and he will have to come to grips with this issue which links together Chinese aid, European lend-lease, and all the other military and civilian help programs the United States is either operating or contemplating.

KIWANIS HEARS TWO SPEAKERS

Dr. Neal Bailey And Rev. Lund On Program

Interesting talks on eye care and the displaced persons problem were given by Dr. Neal Bailey and Rev. Gustav Lund at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Sherman hotel today.

About 85 per cent of man's knowledge is obtained through the eyes, Dr. Bailey said. Glasses were first used to improve vision back in 1270 A. D. Although Benjamin Franklin is given credit for developing the bi-focal, Dr. Bailey said that the first patent for it was granted to Addison Smith a few years before Franklin designed a pair. Most persons require bi-focals after they attain the age of 45, the speaker said.

Among the most important developments in visual aids in the past century are the tri-focal and contact lens. The latter was first used in 1827, but it is not until recent years that it has come into wide use, according to Dr. Bailey.

From 14 to 15 million displaced persons are in Europe today, most of them in Germany, according to Rev. Lund, who made an appeal to make the observance of Thanksgiving real by giving aid to these unfortunate. Rev. Lund said that a train would travel through Michigan in late December and January collecting food-stuffs to be sent abroad. He added that 200,000 displaced persons have been allocated for new homes in the United States, and expressed the hope that one family could be placed in each township of Delta county.

Pro-Franco Group Elected In Spain

Madrid, Nov. 22 (AP)—Spain's first municipal elections under the Franco regime resulted today in a victory for pro-Franco councilmen throughout the country.

Yesterday's elections, first since the end of the Civil War in 1939, were without political importance and the national government did not take part openly in the six-day campaign.

So-called official tickets won easy victories in the provincial capitals and large cities. These candidates were supported by the appointed provincial and city administrations and the totalitarian Falange party, Spain's only political party. The controlled press also supported these tickets.

Insomnia May Be Symptom of Age

As we grow older, a tendency to suffer from insomnia is apt to assert itself.

Underlying reasons may be emotional tensions, poor health or a lack of physical exercise. Even a too-heavy dinner at night can be blamed.

If you find yourself suffering from sleeplessness, which can sap vitality and wreck good looks, have a thorough physical examination to find out whether poor health is at fault. If health or deep emotional disturbances are to blame, your doctor will be able to prescribe corrective treatment.

If health is good and emotional problems are not unusually complicated, you can help yourself to better sleep. Heavy dinners which keep digestive processes working overtime, for example, should be relinquished in favor of lighter meals. It is more sleep-inducing to eat a light dinner and to supplement that at bedtime, if you're still hungry, by slowly sipping a warm beverage which can be quickly digested.

When you climb into bed, instead of allowing your thoughts to race aimlessly over the day's happenings, force yourself to recall pleasant incidents of the past which will have a soothing effect on an overly-stimulated mind. If muscles start to twitch after you've stretched out, try this simple exercise. Lie flat on the bed, arms at sides. Starting with your feet, slowly tense muscles in the legs, thighs, abdomen, chest, arms and fingers. Release the tension all at once. Repeat until you feel pleasantly relaxed.

Briefly Told

Back From Convention—Dr. John J. Walsh has returned from St. Louis, Mo., where he attended a meeting of the American chapter of the International College of Surgeons, held Monday to Saturday of last week. Dr. Walsh and Dr. Fred LaBine of Houghton represented the Upper Peninsula at the convention.

Rotary Meeting—The Escanaba Rotary club at its meeting today noon at the Delta hotel devoted its session to a discussion of club business. John Lemmer presented a report on the recent work of the crippled children's committee; and Carl G. Nelson reported on club finances.

In the semi-final match in the national tennis championship at Forest Hills, Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia and Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of California scored 43 service aces between them.

Army Recruiters Of U. P. Meet In Ishpeming Today

Personnel of the U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting office in Escanaba are attending a meeting at the Mather Inn in Ishpeming this evening when Lt. Col. Robert C. Hubbard, Detroit, commander of the Michigan recruiting district, will meet Upper Peninsula recruiters for the first time.

Colonel Hubbard, an Air Force officer, was accompanied by Capt. Robert T. Rust, also of the Air Force and headquartered in Detroit.

"This constitutes an Upper Peninsula inspection trip," Master Sergeant Theodore A. Rix, of the Escanaba office, said of Colonel Hubbard's visit to the Upper Peninsula. "Recruiting officers from other sections in the Upper Peninsula also are attending the Ishpeming meeting."

Lecturer On Love Scared Of Woman Municipal Judge

Los Angeles, Nov. 22 (AP)—Claude Marsan, 38-year-old Frenchman, who lectures on how to make love, is scared of women judges.

The self styled "great lover" was arrested early Saturday with his red-haired girl assistant, Barbara Weir, when police raided his "lecture" at a night club. Both were charged with conducting a lewd show before minors.

Marsan came up yesterday before Municipal Judge Mildred Lillie. He took one look at the lady judge and said "I would like another day so I may study my plea."

As he returned to jail for another 24 hours, the white-beretted Marsan told reporters: "I am afraid. I would rather appear before another judge. Perhaps a man I can explain better my innocence."

City's Annual Report

IF YOU WERE a dues-paying member of an organization that spends more than a half-million dollars a year, you would be anxious to study the financial report of the organization to find out how the officers were spending your money, wouldn't you?

Well, all of the citizens of Escanaba are dues-paying members of such an organization, the City of Escanaba, and its annual report for the last fiscal year has been completed and is ready for distribution. Copies may be obtained without charge at the city manager's office.

The comprehensive annual report reviews the activities of each of the city departments and shows the cost of operating each of these departments. Further, it shows how the half million dollars that the city spends each year is accumulated. It reveals, for instance, that the city is now getting more revenue from taxes collected by the state than it is receiving by direct tax levy on local property. Also it shows that expenditures from the so-called contingent fund constitute the largest distribution of city funds of any of the budgetary departments.

The annual reports further shows that the municipal electric utility returned a neat profit of $75,000, less taxes and interest, last year, but that the gas utility lost over $8,000, plus taxes and interest and the water utility showed a net profit of nearly $15,000, less taxes and interest.

The annual report is a veritable storehouse of information on how your city officials are spending your money and we commend it to you for study and appraisal.

Russia's Plan For Peace Invites War

THE RUSSIAN proposal for a flat one-third reduction in the armed forces of the five major powers—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China—has been rejected by the United Nations because the proposal is quickly recognized as a completely unrealistic approach to the peace problem.

In the first place, Russia has reduced its own army since the war very slowly and still has about half as many men under arms as it did during the peak of the fighting. In contrast, the United States has only 12 per cent of its wartime troops. Further increasing the disparity in the armed strength of the two nations is the fact that Russia has built huge armies in its satellite countries which would be unaffected by the proposed reduction.

If Russia's proposals were to be accepted, China's Nationalist government would lose the civil war by default. The proposal would require a reduction of one third in the size of the Nationalist army, but would have no effect upon the huge Communist army of China.

The Soviets were fully aware that their proposal had no chance for acceptance when they offered it. The sole reason in making such a senseless proposal is to provide fodder for the Communist propaganda mill. Now Russia will scream that her efforts for world peace are being blocked by the war-mongering capitalistic countries.

Tied in with the proposal for a one-third reduction in the armed forces of the leading powers was the Soviet demand for outlawing the atomic bomb, another feeble effort by Russia to show "peaceful intentions." This, too, was rejected by the United Nations because of unreality.

The atomic bomb can only be effectively outlawed after adequate safeguards are established for international control and inspection of atomic energy plants and materials. Russia has consistently blocked this development.

Russia's so-called peace proposals would not assure peace, but on the contrary would actually invite war by encouraging acceleration of the Soviet's program of aggression.

Voters Desire Constitutional Revision

IN VIEW OF contradictory opinions regarding whether or not the proposal for general revision of the constitution was adopted by the voters in the recent election, it is probable that no action will be taken on the matter at this time.

Gov. Sigler has reported that in his opinion the proposal did not carry because it failed to receive a majority of all the voters in the election though it did receive a majority of the electors who voted on the constitutional revision proposal. Obviously that closes the matter as far as Gov. Sigler is concerned.

Whether Gov.-Elect G. Mennen Williams will move for the calling of a constitutional convention after he takes office has not been indicated, but it is likely that he will avoid a court fight on the issue and will be content to let the matter rest.

Nevertheless, the result of the voting on this issue shows definitely that Michigan residents regard the present constitution as outmoded. If an active campaign had been carried on in behalf of the proposal by civic groups, such as the MEA and the cities carried on in behalf of Amendment No. 2, the constitutional revision proposal would certainly have won a thumping victory.

Eventually the proposal will be presented to the voters again, proponents being encouraged by the results of the recent election. At that time it will be possible to create the machinery for a much needed overhauling of the state constitution.

Precinct Study Deserves Priority

BEFORE THE RECENT ELECTION the city council of Escanaba discussed the need for additional voting precincts in Escanaba. Because of the limited time then remaining before the election it was decided to postpone action on the subject until a study could be made of the situation.

Presumably the matter will be directed to the city planning commission. We hope that the commission accepts the assignment and gives it priority over some of the long range planning that is on the commission's agenda.

While the study of the voting precincts in Escanaba is being made, it might also be a good time for the planning commission or the city council itself to examine the possibilities of establishing voting machines here. Undoubtedly the time is not unreasonably far away when most of the voting in this country will be accomplished by machines instead of paper ballots. About 23 per cent of the votes cast in the presidential election this year were recorded on voting machines, by far the largest percentage in history.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?

(Milwaukee Journal)

A lot of Milwaukeeans have been asking some searching questions about the Schroeder hotel embezzlement case since it was disposed of the other day.

The curious course of this case, along with the actions taken by Dist. Atty. McCauley and the hotel management, would seem to give ample grounds for questions. It was back in May that the embezzlements of Mrs. Ruth Schwender, general cashier at the hotel, came to light. There was confusion about how much money had been taken. And no one seemed able to find out what had happened to the stolen funds.

Now, six months later, the case reaches court. Mrs. Schwender pleads guilty to embezzling $9,500 and is placed on probation at the request of the hotel officials and with Dist. Atty. McCauley's consent.

We are not here raising questions about the probation. That decision rested on the judge's shoulders and we assume that he considered all factors as to what was best for the defendant.

But—and this is a great big "but"—the accounts at the hotel were short $33,063, according to the testimony of Max Karan, certified public accountant. Mrs. Schwender admitted taking $9,500. What happened to the other $23,563?

If Mrs. Schwender didn't take it, and that would seem the conclusion of hotel authorities and the district attorney, who did take it? Where did it go?

What about Mrs. Schwender's claims, early in the case, that others had access to the funds in her charge? What about all the rumors that some of the money might have gone to gamblers who operated in rooms in the hotel? Dist. Atty. McCauley says he is convinced the gamblers didn't get any money from Mrs. Schwender. Did they get any from anyone else who might have had access to the Schroeder funds?

Why has there been such reluctance on the part of the hotel management to push this case? And why, as the case reached trial, did the vice-president of the hotel firm ask that all the charges against Mrs. Schwender be dropped and the case dismissed?

From beginning to end, this has been a case with many odd angles. And certainly it has not been handled as such cases are usually handled in Milwaukee county. The county is not used to hush-hush.

Dist. Atty. McCauley, who has just been re-elected, owes the people some sort of explanation.

Golf fees have been raised on lots of courses. The cost of living has gone up so much it has affected the cost of loafing.

The old story that it's the woman who pays no longer holds true. She has it charged.

WORDS TO WATCH

Read this sentence aloud: His entire head was swathed with bandages.

The chances are about one to ten thousand that you pronounced "swathed" as "swaththd" or "swawthd." But you'll not find either pronunciation sanctioned by any authority. Here is the reason:

Swathed is not derived from swath (correctly pronounced: swath or swawth). It is the past tense of the verb swathe, which rhymes with bathe. Therefore, swathed rhymes with bathed, thus: swaythd.

Heard on a commentary: "The situation in Berlin has become an im-pass-AY." The word used is impasse, "a position from which there is no escape." Impasse is a French loan word. It should never be given three syllables in French or English. The French pronunciation is: a(n)-PAHSS. But the correct English is: im-PASS; or: IM-pass.

May I point out once more for the enlightenment of all my readers, and especially those who do any kind of public speaking, that it is incorrect to pronounce

Negro Voter Has Arrived In South

BY PETER EDSON

Washington (NEA)—"The Negro is the compelling popular issue in the South in 1948 . . . It is no longer good politics to stand up in the South and proclaim that the Negro is all right in his place, but his place is not at the polls . . . Segregation can be defended—but the denial of civil rights that has always gone with it has become indefensible. . . . The Negro voter has arrived in the South."

This is no damnyankee that is being quoted. For a Northerner to say such things would be not only presumptuous but also misguided, ignorant and wrong.

The man who made these statements was Harry S. Ashmore, new editor of the Little Rock, Ark., Gazette, speaking a few days ago before the Southern Political Science Association at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. Ashmore's talk got little or no coverage at the time. Now that the election is all over and the passion fires have died down, it may be safe to dust it off.

TWO MILLION NEGRO VOTERS
Some 700,000 Negroes were qualified to vote in this year's elections, Ashmore points out. This is a 600 per cent increase over 1940. At the same rate of progression, 2,000,000 Negroes could be expected to vote in 1952. They will vote not only in the general elections, but in the primaries as well.

With this rise in enfranchisement of the Negro, the one-party system that has dominated the South for 80 years is doomed to pass, says Ashmore. It is doomed on the day the U. S. Supreme Court struck down all previous decisions and ruled that the primary election is a fundamental part of the American political system. It is therefore subject to the suffrage provisions of the Constitution, guaranteeing the vote to all, regardless of creed or color.

Realistically, this should not be taken to mean that extra-legal means may not be found in some states to discourage Negro voters. There were numerous attempts at intimidation in the last campaign. The egging of Progressive presidential candidate Henry Wallace himself was the most notorious.

Progressive party leaders charged that the worst offenses were in Georgia. There were two instances reported where Progressive Party candidates were "kidnapped" and threatened, then released. A number of their party workers, including James L. Barfoot, the Progressive candidate for governor, were arrested on the sidewalks of Atlanta. More incidents of this sort must be expected in future campaigns.

But, says editor Ashmore, it is unlikely that the Democratic Party will ever repudiate its civil rights platform. It has abandoned for all time the old doctrine of state's rights as traditionally conceived by Southerners. The civil rights platforms of the two major parties are now practically identical.

VOTE FOR NEGRO INEVITABLE
When the Democratic Convention at Philadelphia made its 651½ to 582½ vote in favor of a strong civil rights platform, it was merely expressing the fact that a majority of the Americans who live outside the South consider civil rights desirable for the whole of the country. "It is this pressure of public opinion which has made the enfranchisement of the Negro in the South inevitable," he says.

With that enfranchisement, Ashmore believes that the one-party system of the South has been killed. The South is bound to benefit thereby. Every table and chart showing the standings of the states on matters of health, education and capital reveals how the South has suffered from one-party domination. The old system may have maintained order and stability, but it was "a motionless order of stagnation."

Ashmore said repeatedly that the establishment of a two-party system in the South is the greatest single reform that can be worked in the South. Out of it will come gains not only for the Negro minority but for the white majority.

The transition probably cannot be made smoothly. Ashmore looks with some gloom on the rise of Herman Talmadge in Georgia, Russell Long in Louisiana and the old worn-out prejudices of three generations. There may be chaos for another generation or two. But the political system must be changed to accommodate the mass of new voters now emerging as a political factor in the South.

the "s" of resources as "z." Not "ree-ZAWR-sez." As any good dictionary will attest, the "s" is "s" in source, and the vowel sound of the second syllable is "oh," not "aw." Be sure to say: ree-SOHR-sez. Also permissible: REE-sohr-sez.
Watch vice versa. Do not pronounce vice to rhyme with "ice." It rhymes with "icy." Say: VY-see VUR-suh.

A Connecticut school teacher writes: "I implore you to tell the nation, through your column, how wrong it is to pronounce the word draught as 'draft.' Please urge people to pronounce it correctly as: drawt."

Of course I cannot advocate "drawt" as the pronunciation of draught. It has been obsolete for centuries. The correct pronunciation is: draft.

Indeed, the word draft is simply a newer and more sensible spelling of the word draught. The spelling "draught" is gradually being discarded in favor of the more phonetic "draft" in practically all meanings of the word.

I hope sincerely that our Connecticut teacher will not continue to subject herself to embarrassment and criticism by teaching erroneously that draught is drawt."

That it is wrong to end a sentence with a preposition is a superstition. Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-9, cites highest authority on the correctness of the end-of-sentence preposition. Unless We Do Something P. D. Q.!

Good Evening

REMARKABLE—It is a strange commentary on the temper of the American people that they accept accidents as "inevitable."

Periodic and more-or-less effective efforts are made to reduce accidents in industry, in the home, on the farm, on the highway and among sportsmen in the woods. Much of this safety campaigning is done through newspaper publicity. Newspaper people are, therefore familiar with what is being done to promote safety. They have a sometimes too familiar and gruesome knowledge of the effects of carelessness.

Perhaps the pictures of tragic highway deaths, the stories of hunting fatalities, and the day-by-day reporting of other accidents has sharpened the newspaperman's awareness of danger—and made him somewhat cynical of the measures employed to combat them.

EMOTIONAL—There are two ways of appealing to the public for cooperation in promoting safety programs: 1—The emotional appeal, or isn't it terrible; 2—The factual appeal, and what can be done to improve conditions. The emotional appeal includes the recitation of case histories of accident victims. This method was successfully employed some years ago in an article titled "And Sudden Death," reprinted widely throughout the nation. It dripped with blood. But traffic accident rates kept right on climbing.

The same method could be used in presenting a plea for hunting safety, currently of interest because of the "death a day" record so far this deer hunting season in Michigan. You could recite the gruesome facts and circumstances in every case until the reader would be sickened, but would the hunting toll decline?

FACTUAL—The factual approach, or what can be done to prevent accidents, is less entertaining reading but it may have the virtue of accomplishing reforms. There is no use to deal with individual cases in this approach to accident prevention. The cumulative totals, the vital statistics, the average, and the percentage is the thing to look for. In this way, and statistically speaking, you can usually show that deer hunting is safer than playing cribbage, and that what we need most of all is "the cooperation of the individual."

This factual approach always ends up with an appeal to the individual, who is supposed to heed the good advice tossed at him and stop having accidents. Naturally the individual considers that all the other individuals are the ones who should do the heeding, so very little is accomplished by the "factual approach."

ENFORCEMENT—Law enforcement is probably the best deterrent to accidents on the highway and among hunters in the woods. If caution cannot be acquired by education, it must come through strict enforcement of the laws designed to prevent accidents.

Enforcement includes vigorous prosecution, tempered by the consideration that "making an example" of one case does not excuse laxity of enforcement in the dozen others that follow. The courts should lend their assistance in the drive against accidents by imposing maximum penalties under the law.

TWILIGHT ZONE—State law now permits persons from 14 to 16 years of age, inclusive, to hunt deer—if they are accompanied by their parent or guardian. The parent or guardian is responsible for the hunting conduct of the youth until he attains the age of 17 and presumably the age of reason.

But what happens if the youth under 17 kills or injures another person in a hunting accident? He is arraigned in juvenile court, unless a waiver to a higher court is granted. In the recent case in Delta county in which a boy of 14 shot and killed a woman the father was fined $100 for allowing his son to hunt unaccompanied; the boy will be arraigned in juvenile court where he will probably be put on some sort of probation.

If that youth were 17 instead of 14, he would be arraigned in justice court, bound to circuit court, and would face a charge of negligent homicide or manslaughter. The 14 to 17 age hunter is in a twilight zone under the law. Perhaps he should not be permitted to hunt at all.

THE FATALIST—P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the state department of conservation, on a recent visit to the Upper Peninsula, was quoted as saying:

"We don't want hunting accidents and deaths and the only thing we can do is to keep everlastingly at the task of trying to reduce them to a minimum. We never will be able to eliminate them altogether, the element of human error being what it is. As a matter of fact, the hunting accident rate, considering the number of persons engaged in the sport, compares favorably with the traffic accident rate, the number of accidents in homes, and even the number on playgrounds."

Roving Reporter

By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—The test of leadership in a time of crisis comes in the hour of decision.

The leader no longer can keep in balance the advice of the men under him who say a thing can't be done—and the advice of the men who say it can.

He was to act. He has to decide, knowing history is ready to make him a bum forever or a hero, temporary or permanent. As often as not he makes up his mind by instinctive faith, rather than by the fears his education has taught him.

There is perhaps no better or more dramatic illustration of this in our time than the decision by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower to hurl two American airborne divisions into action as advance guard for his main landing forces in Normandy.

General Ike tells the story in his fine and simply written memoirs, "Crusade in Europe."

Six days before the Normandy operation was to begin Air Chief Marshal Leigh-Mallory came to him. Leigh-Mallory agreed with the plan to drop a British Airborne Division near Caen, because the terrain was suitable.

But he protested it would be "a little slaughter" to send the two American Divisions—the 82nd and 101st—into the Cherbourg Peninsula.

A frank, able and honest officer, Leigh-Mallory said the Cherbourg area was unsuitable and too strongly defended. He predicted 70 per cent of American glider strength and 50 per cent of the paratroops would be lost before they even landed.

This forthright opinion by a chief air advisor upset Eisenhower greatly.

"I went to my tent alone and sat down to think," he wrote.

There he reviewed the whole situation again.

"If I should cancel the airborne operation, then I had either to cancel the attack on Utah Beach (one of the two main American landing sites) or I would condemn the assaulting forces there to even greater probability of disaster than was predicted for the airborne divisions."

Eisenhower felt that to give up one of the landing beaches would threaten the success of the whole invasion.

And so, alone in his tent, Eisenhower came to his decision—to use his two divisions, the flower of American airborne power, according to his own plan.

On the night they were to take off, he went to the 101st Division himself, and found the men in good shape. They joshed him and told him he had nothing to worry about.

A few hours later he got word the landing was successfully underway. Air Chief Marshal Leigh-Mallory, he recalls, was "the first to call me to voice his delight and to express his regret that he had found it necessary to add to my personal burdens during the final tense days before D-Day."

One history of the war says: "It was the largest and most efficient airborne operation in five years of war. The Allied forces landed exactly as planned and plane losses ran to less than three percent of those suffered by the Germans in Crete."

But the decision to send them—it will be long remembered by the distinguished warrior-educator who now has pitched his tent among the classrooms on Morningside Heights.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—At Key West, happy, humble Harry Truman and his faithful sidekick, Alben Barkley, swam, fished and loafed. But though they didn't talk much shop, they left with a clear understanding of Barkley's new role in the administration.

It was agreed that the new vice president will serve as Senate Majority leader and take an active hand in reorganizing Senate committees—right up to the day before inauguration. Barkley will be needed for any purge of the Dixiecrats—if there is one.

After Jan. 20, it has been decided, the new vice president will operate as a working liaison between the president and Congress. He will do more than sit in the presiding chair for all tourists to look at, but will mingle actively in the corridors and use his influence in putting over Truman's program.

But that isn't all. Barkley will also sit in on cabinet meetings, will take some of the executive burdens from the president's shoulders.

—SENATOR GETS RELIGION—

Wisconsin's Senator Joe McCarthy has really got religion when it comes to public housing. Joe is now working among Republicans who blocked the housing bill in the 80th Congress to swing them around to public housing and slum clearance.

Though previously regarded as a tool of the real lobby, McCarthy now insists that he has always stood up for a liberal housing program. He fought against public housing and slum clearance, he explains because he feared these two provisions would drag the rest of the housing bill down to defeat.

Perhaps, like the Supreme Court, the Senator from Wisconsin has read the election returns, but anyway he has now written Sen. Robert Taft for help to round up Republican votes for a bipartisan housing program—which would give the Democrats all they are asking. This is a little funny in view of the fact that Taft was an original author of the housing bill and at the last session tried to get McCarthy to vote for it.

However, McCarthy has a couple ideas of his own which he wants to add. He will try: (1) To assign public housing units to needy families solely on the basis of need, as determined by social workers; (2) To relieve the public housing administrator of all extra duties and permit him to devote his full time to public housing; and (3) To grant a 100 per cent secondary market for veterans' cooperatives so they will have no trouble obtaining loans.

—FRENCH "MERCI TRAIN"—

Isolationists frequently argue that Europe does not appreciate American aid; claim we are pouring food and dollars into an ungrateful, bottomless European pit.

Touring France today, however, are 49 boxcars, relics of World War I in which American troops traveled, which comprise the train of gratitude or "Merci Train" to the American people. The Merci Train is picking up gifts from the French people to the American exactly as the Friendship Train toured the United States one year ago, and the French train is a gesture of appreciation for the Friendship Train.

It is significant that the chief organizers of the Merci Train are French veterans. Spearhead of the movement is Commandant Guy De La Vassellais, French liaison officer to General Patton during the war. The idea of sending us boxcars which carried U. S. troops was conceived by the association of French railway veterans.

But every cross-section of the French population is participating. President Auriol personally is contributing 49 porcelain vases of the famed Sevres variety. The French Minister of Agriculture has collected 49 bushes and trees from all over France. The French mint has struck off 49 sets of medals, some of them duplicates of medals given to Eisenhower and Patton. The Verdun veterans association has donated the original 1916 flag which flew over Verdun, inscribed with the historic words "On Ne Passe Pas" (They Shall Not Pass). The city of Caen, which withstood such devastating bombardment when Field Marshal Montgomery tried to oust the Germans after the Normandy landing, has sent 49 bronze school bells.

These are only a few of the priceless gifts sent by the French people. Incidentally, the French are sending no wines, perfumes, or luxury items—only gifts of sentimental and historic value.

Each of the 49 boxcars will be deposited, with its contents, in the 48 states, while the 49th will go to the District of Columbia to be turned over to government officials for the territory of Hawaii, which flew a special train to the mainland and contributed three carloads of sugar to the Friendship Train.

At a time when so many international projects are being twisted or obstructed by political bias, here is a gesture from the French people to the American people sent in the spirit of openhanded friendliness.

—MERRY-GO-ROUND—

Minnesota's political humpty-dumpty, Sen. Joe Ball (rhymes with "fall"), will go back to newspaper writing. He hopes to peddle a column to papers across the country. . . . Harold Stassen's political machine, dormant since the G. O. P. National Convention, is beginning to stir again. His supporters are talking again about Stassen for president—in 1952. (Only 1,460 campaigning days "till elections.")

Report Rheumatic Fever Chief Death Cause In Children

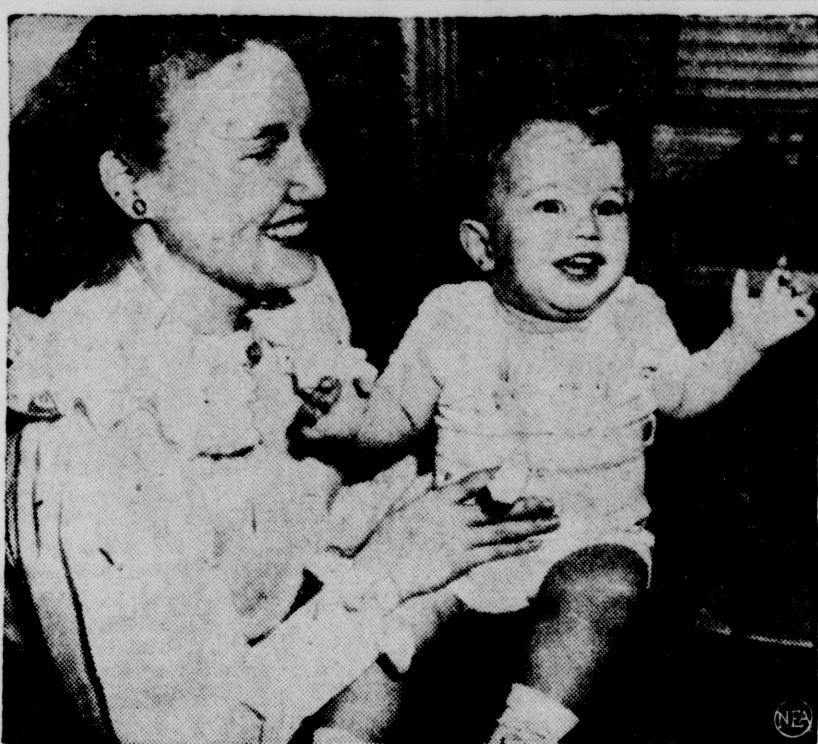

Rheumatic fever takes the lives of more Michigan school children than any other disease, and its resulting heart damage causes the crippling of multitudes, according to Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner. The illness is more common in Michigan than most parents suspect.

The disease flourishes in cold, damp weather, under crowded living conditions and among children who do not eat proper food. The disease is not contagious, like measles or mumps, but it often follows the highly contagious streptococcal throat and nose infections.

Cause of the illness is not surely known, but symptoms which should indicate an immediate check-up by the child's physician, especially if the child is under 14 years, are: low, unexplained, persistent fever, pain in muscles and joints, rapid heart beat, repeated nosebleeds without apparent cause, pallor, poor appetite, loss of weight or failure to gain, jerky nervous movements, and frequent sore throat.

50,000 Are Victims
These signs or symptoms may be so slight that the family doctor has to study the child for months and consult specialists before he is sure. But to protect the life and future health of the child, early diagnosis is of the utmost importance. More than 50,000 Michigan adults are now suffering crippling heart defects from rheumatic fever; and heart disease takes the lives of more Michigan people than any other illness.

Bed rest, perhaps for months, proper diet, prevention of recurrence of the illness, and avoidance of respiratory illness are of the utmost importance to the child ill of rheumatic fever. Parents should see that the child is properly clothed for winter or cold weather, that he keeps his feet and body dry, that he follows medical instruction, eats the foods he needs, rests as his physician advises, and avoids other children who are ill. He should be taught how to protect his health and the reasons for doing so.

Symptoms listed do not necessarily mean rheumatic fever, but the child ill of rheumatic fever will recover a maximum of health only when his case is diagnosed early and he is given proper care.

Treatment Centers
For better diagnosis of rheumatic fever and for consultation, the Michigan State Medical Society in cooperation with the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the Michigan Crippled Children Commission has established or is establishing 30 Rheumatic Fever Consultation and Diagnostic Centers in the State. Of these, 16 have been established in the Detroit-Wayne County area, and one each in Alpena, Ann Arbor, Bay City, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette, Pontiac, Saginaw, and Traverse City. Centers are being completed in Battle Creek, Muskegon and Port Huron. Admission to these centers is arranged by the family physician who examined the child suspected of having rheumatic fever.

"The militant campaign on the part of the Michigan State Medical Society and other agencies, places the state among the foremost in efforts toward rheumatic fever control," Dr. Heustis said. "The campaign will show its results in a lower death rate and less crippling from rheumatic fever among children, and in a decrease in total heart disease deaths in the state."

Books Start In Red For Governor-Elect

By JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, Nov. 20 (AP)—Governor-elect G. Mennen Williams faces one cold fact which will make it difficult to deliver on his campaign promises. That is a prospective state deficit next year of $25,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Williams promised in his successful campaign—and has reiterated since—to seek "adequate" unemployment compensation benefits, higher old age assistance benefits, relief for the housing shortage and similar probable expensive proposals.

He is gathering technical committees to provide background on these and other major planks in his platform and to draft proposed legislation to go before the Michigan lawmakers Jan. 5.

Presumably labor, which fought for him at the polls, will have an important voice in these committees. Some of the labor organizations have well-trained technicians who should be able to give the "boy" governor a real helping hand.

Thus Williams does not come to the capitol completely unprepared. But the future he faces is a rough one, indeed.

Even a governor who had a co-operative legislature and administrative board of his own political faith could be excused if he failed to crack the hard nuts awaiting him, and Williams probably will lack even those comforts.

The size of the anticipated deficit cannot be accurately estimated yet because the budget drafts are not completed.

But informed sources predict that it will amount to about $25,000,000 if nothing is spent for state construction and about $40,000,000 if the legislature continues the construction program at its present rate.

This presumes there will be no reduction in present state services and no increase in taxes.

A Republican legislative committee now is working at the elimination and merging of various small state agencies, but it holds out little hope for any substantial dollar economies as a result. The experience of past legislative sessions is that efforts to reduce state services meet almost a stone wall of opposition.

Even if the estimated deficit for the 1949-50 fiscal year runs considerably less than anticipated now, there still seems little room for any material increase in state benefit programs such as Williams suggests—unless higher taxes are to be voted.

Williams was asked at a recent press conference whether he foresaw the likelihood of higher taxes. He ducked that one and suggested his questioners wait and see what his inaugural message contains.

If Williams opposes higher taxes and can find a way through the deficit he undoubtedly would have the happy support of most Republican legislators.

But the lawmakers privately seem convinced that new taxes will be necessary, Williams or no Williams.

Many of them declared their sole reason for putting the sales tax diversion repealer on the Nov. 2 election ballot was to give the people one last chance to avoid a tax rise. The people rejected the repeal overwhelmingly and legislators now are saying they have a clear expression of the public will in favor of a tax boost.

But the sad fact is that no matter what the people voted they probably aren't going to greet higher state taxes with a smile—and that fact spells political dynamite.

It is an unhappy prospect for the young Democratic governor-elect.

Observers have been favorably impressed with Williams on his first appearance at the capitol.

He spoke to a meeting of the Citizens' Educational Study committee and apparently impressed members with a refreshing modesty and a perspective of state educational problems. Williams avoided the pitfall of appearing overly-humble and made it clear that while he welcomed advice and suggestions he would make his own decisions.

This impression, if it can be sustained with the Republican legislature, will help the governor-elect get over the first hurdle in an uphill fight for a successful administration.

Car Ferry Seaman Settles His Injury Suit For $20,000

Detroit (AP)—A $20,000 settlement was announced in Federal court in Preston E. Davis' damage suit against a railroad.

Davis, 29, now a resident of Monroe, sued the Chesapeake & Ohio for $50,000 for allegedly permanent injuries suffered as a car ferry seaman Jan. 5, 1947.

Davis said a car ferry of the Pere Marquette division struck a dock at Windsor, Ont., forcing a crank into his stomach as he was at work. He alleged negligence.

IN LAST 16 MONTHS... MORE MEN VOLUNTEERED FOR THE ARMY than chose jobs in any other business

HERE'S THE RECORD

Between July 1, 1947, and October 21, 1948, a total of 214,616 forward-looking young American men signed original enlistment contracts with the U. S. Army. This number is greater than the number of men who obtained jobs with any other American business during the same period.

During this sixteen-month period the total of all enlistments in your U. S. Army amounted to 341,959. Of this group, 93,473 veterans returned to the Army—men who had discovered that the U. S. Army offered them more than civilian life. And in the same period 33,870 men re-enlisted to continue their satisfying, productive Army careers.

Thousands upon thousands of intelligent young men are finding worth-while, remunerative and satisfying careers in the Army. And every day more men are taking advantage of the unlimited opportunities the Army offers—opportunities that can't be duplicated in civilian life.

For instance, in the month of August, 1948, alone, 44,204 signed enlistment contracts of three years or more with the Army.

Today fifty-seven per cent of the volunteers in the Army have had previous military service—enjoyable, happy service which they want to continue.

This impressive record is solid, conclusive proof that the Regular U. S. Army offers the kind of career opportunity that the young men of our nation demand—an opportunity not only to learn but to serve at the same time.

WHY MEN RE-ENLIST

Ranking high among the reasons thousands of men give for selecting or continuing careers in the Army are the chances for rapid advancement in their chosen fields. Today the Army is expanding fast. This expansion means unlimited opportunity for promotion of skilled, highly trained men.

Advancement is important; however, there are many other good, sound reasons why so many intelligent men choose to stay in the Army. Here are but a few:

☆ On the day a man enlists the Army starts a retirement-benefit "stake" for him which continues to grow as long as he stays. At the end of six years he has established an equity which compares with a retirement benefit of $6,250.

☆ Army technical schools offer the most advanced and specialized training in interesting, practical fields—give technical "know-how" you'd have to pay for in civilian life.

HERE'S WHAT THE NEW ARMY OFFERS YOU

Before you choose any career, compare it with a future in the Regular U. S. Army. Never before has the Army offered such tremendous opportunities for a real career to the alert, ambitious young men of America.

On the one hand you have the chance to serve your country while learning a new trade or skill—to further your education in important fields. And on the other hand there are the financial advantages, the job security, the retirement benefits, the chances for rapid promotion, the free medical and dental care that are yours in the Army.

A career in the U. S. Army is an opportunity that just can't be beat. And it's a lifetime opportunity! Get the full details now at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Office.

Herman Holmes And Wife Celebrate 50 Years Of Marriage

Crystal Falls — Mr. and Mrs. Herman Holmes, of Crystal Falls, widely-known not only in Iron county but throughout the Upper Peninsula as well, on Tuesday observed the golden anniversary of their wedding. The couple received some 300 relatives and friends during the afternoon and evening at their residence, 616 Marquette avenue.

Mrs. Holmes, the former Christine Sackerson, of Crystal Falls, and Herman Holmes, then of Iron River, were united in marriage Nov. 16, 1898. The Rev. Mr. Olander, then pastor of First Lutheran in Norway performed the simple ritual at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, Crystal Falls, the bride's brother-in-law and sister.

The bride, who was wedded while wearing a pale blue satin floor-length gown, covered with sheer white organdy, was attended by Mr. Holmes' sister, Anna, who is now Mrs. Frank Flanher, of Iron River. The best man was Martin Sackerson, the bride's brother.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Holmes came to this country with their parents from Sweden, Mrs. Holmes in 1886 and her husband in 1892. He attended school in Stambaugh while residing with his parents on a farm in Iron River. Mrs. Holmes is a graduate of Crystal Falls High.

For two years after their marriage the couple lived in Iron River. He was elected sheriff of Iron county in 1900 and they moved to Crystal Falls, where they have since lived.

Mr. Holmes served four terms as sheriff, and then was in the lumbering and logging business until about 1918, when he began contracting. Since then he has become one of the most successful contractors in the country. Not only has he built some of the most traveled roads in Michigan, but some of the largest construction projects in the country have been completed under his direction.

Among his greatest accomplishments was the Pennsylvania Turnpike job, which he constructed in 1941 at a cost of $70,000,000. It called for building a highway extending from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, Pa., the world's greatest steel center. The Turnpike called the nation's greatest super-highway, connects the cities by piercing the Appalachian mountains. There are no traffic lights or cross-roads.

In 1943, Mr. Holmes laid 35 miles of railroad, in addition to building roads and sewer lines for a huge ordinance depot in Lordstown, Ohio, for the storage of war supplies. Holmes and his son-in-law, Jay Coles, together directed construction of roads for a large Veterans hospital in Martinsburg, West Va., consisting of a hundred buildings and large swimming pool.

Tunnel Project

He recently completed the construction of a $2,500,000 railroad tunnel project, largest ever undertaken in the United States, at Sultsburg, Pa. It involved diver-

Powers Boy Hit By Exploding 22-Shell

Fred Britton, six, of Rt. 1, Powers, suffered a minor flesh wound in the left leg yesterday when he was struck by a piece of .22 caliber cartridge. State Police who investigated said the cartridge was exploded by a blow from a hammer in the hands of Fred's brother, Ned, 12 years old. The boy was treated at Pinecrest sanatorium and returned to his home.

Stonington

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Paetschow and two children returned to their home in Manitowoc, Monday, after spending the weekend here with the William Armstrong family.

sion of the flow of the Conemaugh river near Saltsburg to provide a tunnel, for the Pennsylvania railroad. The tunnel, which pierces a small mountain, is 2,660 feet long.

Mr. Holmes, a Rotarian and thirty-second degree Mason, has been a director of the First National bank of Crystal Falls for many years.

The couple has one daughter, Mrs. A. Jay Cole, and one grandson, Franklin Cole of Crystal Falls.

With The Deer Hunters

Hank Olson, Lake Shore Drive and Lawrence Sheedlo, 1018 Washington avenue both filled their licenses Tuesday morning hunting at Art Servant's camp at Camp Mornon Creek. The bucks were eight pointers, weighing about 150 pounds. Other members of the hunting party were Mr. Servant and William Hendrickson of Escanaba.

Four lucky hunters who returned from their camp near LaBranche Saturday afternoon were Bill Sullivan who bagged a 10 pointer, Jesse Goulet a six pointer, Joe Gregoire a nine pointer and Leo Lancour a 5 pointer. They also reported seeing a huge bear but were unable to shoot him.

Grand Rapids (P)—Six Grand Rapids men, back here from a hunting trip into the Upper Peninsula, brought proof that there's good hunting in Michigan's north country. The six—William Bos, Donald Bos, Lawrence Koetsier, James Vandemoere, Philip Niof and Ennes Abbring—bagged a buck apiece. One was a ten-pointer which dressed down to 210 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Anderson, their son, Arthur G. Anderson and C. P. Johnson, of Escanaba, and Alex Carson of Cornell returned home Sunday night from the Wolverine Camp at Northland where they spent the past week hunting. Mr. Anderson and his son and Mr. Carlson filled their licenses, bringing down spike horns, ranging from 125 to 150 pounds. Members of the party reported 12 inches of snow in the Northland area, and they experienced considerable difficulty in driving out from camp.

Mrs. Tom Powers, hunting with her brother, Walter Berg, and members of his party, at the Berg camp at Paulding, Mich., shot her first deer, a 160 pound buck. All members of the camp group, Mr. Berg and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Al Baumgardner of Chicago, filled their licenses, and Mr. Johnson, who is Mrs. Powers' brother-in-law also shot a bear.

Hank Greenberg played only two full seasons in the major leagues in which he failed to drive in more than 100 runs—his first year and his last.

Dead Horse Meat Racket Bared By Pennsylvania Drive

Harrisburg, Pa. (P)—Pennsylvania began cracking down Friday on what officials termed a "dead animal meat racket."

Miles Horst, state agriculture secretary, said a five-month inquiry will result in 29 persons being arraigned starting today on charges of violating the state food laws.

Horst, describing the sales as a "dead animal meat racket," said 258 violations have been uncovered by state food agents.

"Investigations," said Horst, "have uncovered some very disgusting practices both in the preparation of dog food and the suspected illegal sale of horse meat for human consumption."

Horst said most of the accused men "have been working independently without licenses for slaughter houses or rendering plants."

Amalg violations the state will try to establish, Horst added, are: Sale of horse meat to small restaurants as hamburger, sold with the advice that the cook should "add a little grease and you can't tell the difference from beef."

Patties of meat, suspected of being from dead horses, put out for sale in Philadelphia stores and marked pet food; dog food made of horse meat labeled as "whole-some for human consumption" and "U. S. inspected."

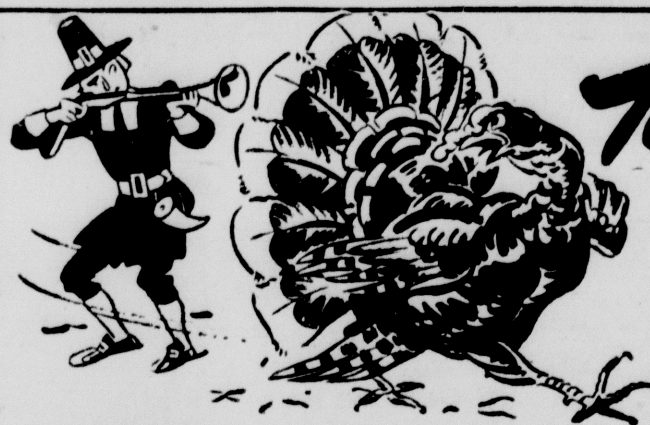

Hunting, fishing and golf are the favorite hobbies of baseball players and executives, a recent poll shows.

Prosperity Slicks Up U. S. Farmer

An American farmer totes up his new prosperity: In terms of his house, it's revolutionary.

By DOUGLAS LARSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington, (NEA)—High food prices are taking long-handled underwear off the American farmer and putting the plumping inside his house.

Those are just two of the many significant changes which have taken place in the lives of U. S. farmers since they have been struck with revised prosperity. What has happened to the farmer during the past couple of years and where he is headed was the subject of a recent "outlook" conference sponsored by the Department of Agriculture. Farmers from all over the U. S. were on hand to put in their two-cents worth and to get information.

The changing clothing habits of American farmers were revealed by a special Department of Agriculture survey. It shows that the younger and more prosperous farmers are abandoning long underwear, and instead, buying undershirts and undershirts. It shows also that the younger farmers are getting away from overalls and coveralls as work clothing. They are taking more to jackets and sweaters.

For dress clothing, American farmers are buying a higher percentage of business suits, sports jackets, sweaters and slacks and white shirts for their wardrobe. The young men are also wearing slippers around the house more than their elders ever did.

In the female apparel department it was revealed that farm ladies are rapidly catching up with their city-sisters in the use of "store-bought," ready-made summer slips, summer street dresses, house dresses and short-sleeved blouses. Among the city women-folk it was discovered that 83 per cent buy ready-made summer street dresses. Of the rural ladies, 79 per cent buy them ready-made. This is said to be a tremendous increase for the latter group.

And American farm families in general are catching up with the dress habits of the city folk. The average city family spent about the same for new clothing in 1947 as it did in 1946. During that same period farm families spent one-fifth more for new clothing.

What farm prosperity has done to the farmer's house is in the Farmer's wife has shared in his new prosperity with new kitchens. Many are copies of the model farm kitchen designed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in one corner of which a vegetable bin is being demonstrated.

nature of a small revolution. From 1946 to 1947 the number of farmhouses with modern bathrooms nearly doubled, and more than million were supplied with running water for the first time. There still is a long way to go, however, as far as farm housing is concerned. Two-thirds of all farmhouses still have no running water and four-fifths do not have a modern bathroom.

The buying of more medical care for themselves and their families was another spending increase discovered. Among a special group of rural families used for the survey, more than two and one-half times as much money went for doctor bills and medicine last year than it did in 1940.

Before the war it was estimated that the farmer spent about six per cent of his total income for house furnishings. Last year among the test group it was discovered that 14 per cent of the income went for home furnishings.

There was a drop in total U. S. farm income during 1947 and a further small slump is predicted for this year and next. But the percentage of income spent for clothing, medical care, and house furnishings has constantly increased and is expected to continue to increase.

The conclusion drawn from this phenomena by the experts is that the present farm prosperity has given the farmer his first taste of more comfortable living and that the more he tries it, the better he likes it. The trend toward farmers buying better living for themselves will continue, they predict, as long as a reasonably good level of farm prosperity is maintained.

In spite of the changes in family spending in recent years among farmers, however, the purchasing of food still takes first place among the goods farmers buy for family use. It accounts

The 'Heart Of Your Car'
Deserves Special Attention

Ever look into the 'Heart of Your Car'—its battery? B. F. Goodrich has provided the opportunity with the above cut-away picture of one of the sections of its new Glasstex battery.

B. F. Goodrich technicians urge motorists to have their batteries serviced, during fall and winter months before "sudden death failures" occur.

"Cold weather, use of heaters and defrosters, and other electrical accessories put a heavy strain on batteries. Motorists who want quick, sure starts and efficient car performance should not neglect the 'Heart of Their Car'—its battery", the technicians warn.

New B. F. Goodrich batteries for both passenger car and commercial use are available locally through your B. F. Goodrich Store, located at 1300 Ludington St.

Advise 15 Minutes Every Three Years For Medical Exams

Boston—Fifteen minutes every three years is enough for routine medical examinations of school children. This is one of the recommendations to the American Public Health Association meeting here from the Joint Committee on Health Problems in Education. The Committee's report was presented by one of its two editors, Dr. Dean F. Smiley, assistant secretary of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

The routine examinations should be supplemented, the Committee reported, with referral examinations as often as needed. This means that a child whose health was below par would be referred to his family physician for more frequent examinations.

New York (NEA)—The woman who can afford to laugh at the high cost of smart winter woollens is the lady who knits.

A smart hand-knit original which commands a fabulous price when purchased may be clicked off needles for only the cost of the yarn and a pattern.

Yarn-counter pattern books which provide infinite choices of high-fashion designs also supply directions which guide the knitter every stitch of the way.

For proof that new hand-knit designs are high-fashion, take a look at the three shown. At the right is the darling of the accessory field this fall—the "touch-down" stole. This 65-inch-long woolen scarf may be as extravagant as a knitter desires and its stripes color-keyed to any dress or suit in a winter wardrobe.

The two-piece woolknit dress, center, proves that The Look is as well established on yarn counters as on dress racks. Vertical ribbing simulates vertical pleats for a skirt of new flared fullness. Rib-stitched pockets, placed on the jacket to round out its hipline, are other examples of new look details which may be knitted at home.

The three-piece woolknit suit, left, presents a new bustle-back jacket, a check-mark neckline, covered buttons and an ensemble blouse which features a stylized two-toned print on white.

Holding Up Head Keeps Chin Slim

One of the most reliable instincts a woman can follow when she sees the first signs of a double chin in her mirror is to hold up her head.

If she'll hold her head upright, that is, and in perfect alignment with her body—she can elude the grasp of age on her throat.

The next strategic step which she will need to take, however, is to slap on her night cream with renewed vigor. The time has really come to spank under a chin and around her neck—briskly with the back of the hand—when the youthful line shows signs of slipping. This spanking routine should be the wind-up of a nightly creaming ritual devoted to the face and neck.

An effective trick which helps to keep the fleshy area of the chin firm is this: turn the shower spray on it full force when you take a bath. Gradually change the temperature of the water from warm to cold as you throw back your head and allow the spray to spout full force under the chin and over the neck area.

Brush fish fillets with softened butter or margarine and broil until done. Sprinkle with salt, freshly ground pepper and paprika and serve with short sprays of watercrest and wedges of lemon.

Palm Beach fabric is a combination of mohair—like wool, an animal fiber—with cotton. When cleaned special precautions must be taken to prevent shrinking or felting, experts say.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gorzenski of Wilson are the parents of a daughter, Elizabeth Rachel, born Wednesday, Nov. 17, at St. Francis hospital. The baby, weighing six pounds two ounces, was the first born to the couple. Mrs. Gorzenski is the former Genevieve Mylander of Escanaba.

Sitting Pretty For Best Poise

BL ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The way in which you sit down to chat with older friends tells them instantly whether you are going to be a fidgety or a poised conversationalist.

You will be "typed" as a fidgety young thing if you shuffle your feet, try to wrap them around your chair or cross and uncross your legs. You will also demonstrate a lack of poise if you tug at your clothes, toy with a necklace or bracelet or re-arrange your hair.

No matter how ill at ease you may feel with an older person, you can hide it if you'll sit quietly. The more quietly you sit, the more poised you will appear to be.

The best way to give the impression of poise is to walk quietly to the chair in which you are going to sit. Turn, back up to it, adjust your skirts and sit down easily. Then lean back in the chair. Sit with legs pulled back as close to the chair as possible, and keep knees and feet together.

If you cross legs, keep the crossed leg close to its uncrossed mate. And don't swing that foot or dangle your slipper.

Fine Defensive
Play At Bridge
League Session

Hands that presented unusual opportunities for fine defensive play were very much in evidence during last Saturday's regular session of the Delta Bridge League. Several contracts that at first glance seemed to be "in the bag" were defeated, but only by a very careful choice of discards and fine, cooperative play by the defenders.

The next regular session will be held on Friday, November 26, at the Elks Club. Registrations will begin at 8:00 and will close promptly at 8:20 p. m. Those interested in bridge are cordially invited to attend as guests of the League for their first three sessions.

Lotion Massage
Curbs Chapping

BY ALICIA HART

NEA Staff Writer

Girls who wear ankle socks in the fall and winter should be prepared to spend more time on leg care.

To counteract the chapping effect of chilly winds on unprotected skin, you should begin now to lather a lotion on legs before starting out for the day. After your bath when skin is moist and warm is the best time to apply a lotion. If knees and shins seem to be particularly susceptible to chapping, treat these areas to extra dabs of lotion and massage it over skin.

Remember that ankle socks look best on girls whose style of dress is not yet adult enough to include sheer stockings. The teen-age who wears stockings for most dress-up purposes should limit her use of socks to those occasions when she wears very casual duds or sports outfits.

If the teen-ager's legs are chubby, dark-toned full length stockings which give an unbroken color line from hemline will look more slimming than socks which divide the line and add seeming bulk to ankles.

Nearly 500 Hear Cloverland
Concert Sunday; Orchestra
Shows High Music Potential

Nearly 500 persons attended the second annual concert by the Cloverland Symphony orchestra in William Oliver auditorium Sunday night.

The orchestra showed marked improvement in both its performance and the type of music presented, since last year. The playing was more confident, and there were moments during last night's concert when the audience was both held and impressed with the tonal beauty offered by the orchestra.

Throughout the concert one was aware of a more artistic and solid approach to the music. Outstanding was the fine work of the violin section of the orchestra and the tympani performance of Henry Olson. Every unit of the orchestra played remarkably well, however, and the audience was not miserly in letting its appreciation become known.

The Allegro and Andante con moto of Beethoven's Fifth symphony were first on the program, under the baton of Albert Shomento. The performance was excellent, and permitted the audience to anticipate a fine night of music, and many seasons of good concert music.

Rimsky - Korsakov's "Song of India" was offered in its traditional melodic form, and the Andante Cantabile of Tchaikovsky's string quartet, opus 11, was given an especially interpretative rendition. The orchestra played it as an encore also.

Concert-goers last night heard some very talented piano soloing by Jack Beyers of Marquette. His mastery of the keyboard and difficult musical patterns is amazing.

He played Debussy's Ritual Dance of Fire, Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata, and Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C Sharp Minor. As encores he performed a Massenet composition and a minuet. Needless to say, all his selections were played without music manuscripts.

Four selections, Dawn, Gondoliers, the Love Song and Good Night, from Un Giorno in Venezia of Ethelbert Nevin, Arioso by Bach and El Relicario of Padilla were presented in the last portion of the program. The latter won special favor with the audience for its spirited rhythms and unusual orchestration.

The Cloverland Symphony orchestra will present concerts this year in Iron Mountain and Marquette, and possibly in Green Bay. Nearly all members of the orchestra performed in the Sunday night concert.

This concert marked the opening of the second season of this orchestra, comprised of avocational musicians. They perform without pay, and come from all parts of Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin.

No mention has been made of a concert here in the spring.

1948 GOBBLER

"PEEP!" The chick, a new addition to Beltsville's flock of "streamlined" turkeys, is greeted by little Annalee Scott.

BROODER HOUSE for the turkeys has wire floors, a precaution against parasitic diseases.

DO YOU want a family-size, handy-weight turkey which will fit your kitchenette oven? Are you interested in fewer cold turkey sandwiches, less turkey hash after the Thanksgiving feast is over? Well, Uncle Sam has a streamlined gobbler for you. He developed it at his Beltsville, Md., agricultural research center. It's called the Beltsville Bird or the Small White Turkey. Its average live weight is less than 10 pounds, compared with about 20 for a Bronze turkey. It has a comparatively broad breast, which means more white meat, and it has comparatively short plump legs—which means better drumsticks.

Government turkey experts began talking about developing a breed of small turkeys about 20 years ago. In 1934 the experiments started at the Beltsville station. The scientists worked with five breeds. They finally came up with a satisfactory model in 1940. Gradually the eggs were made available to commercial growers. Now the birds are on the market in larger quantities. The new Small White Turkey at the Beltsville center is pictured here.

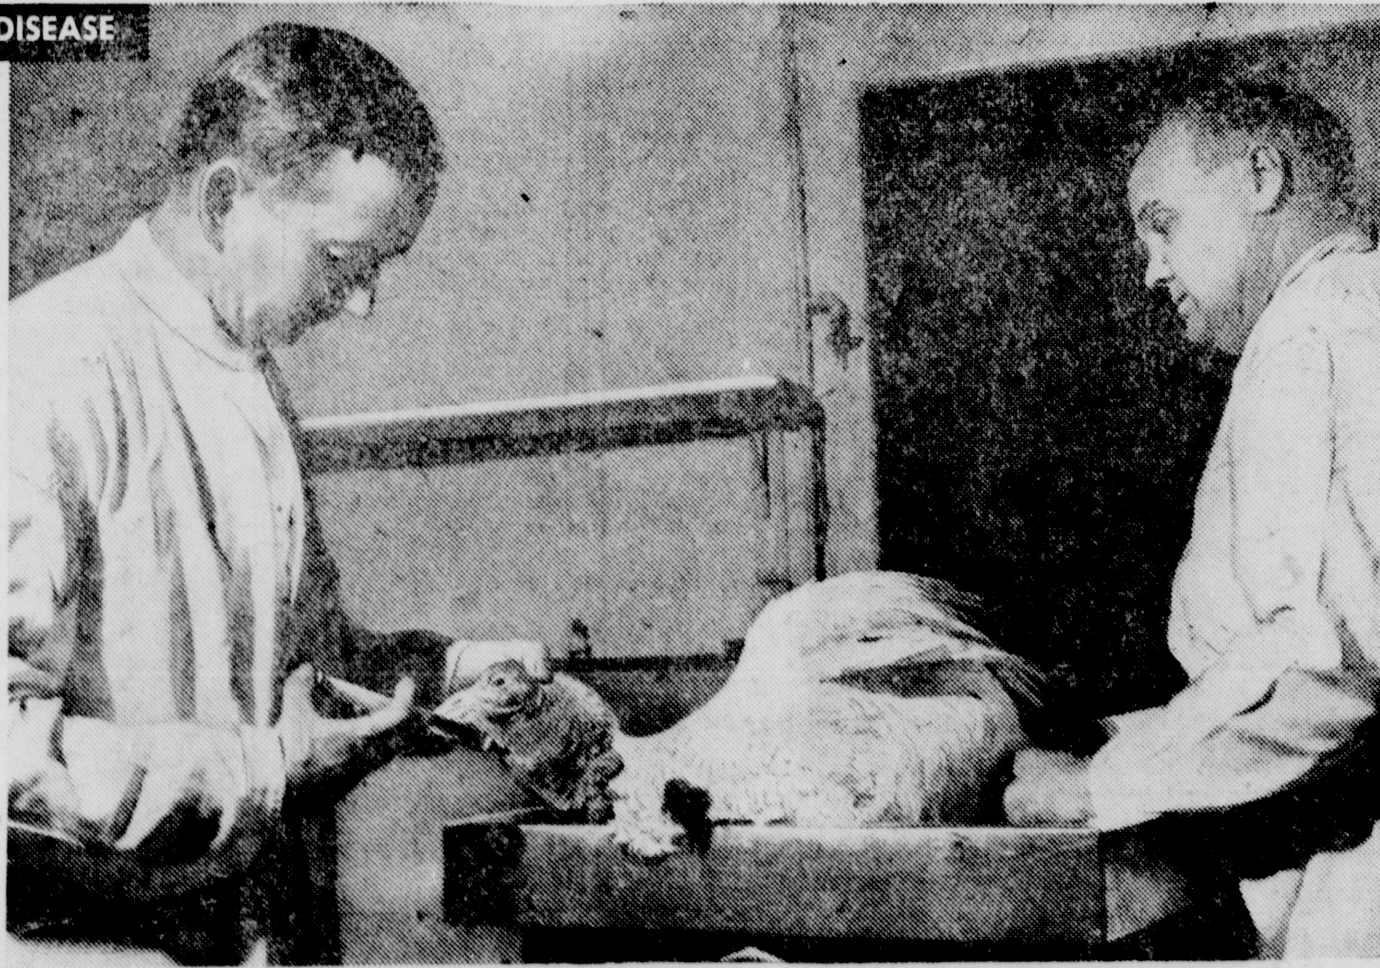

POULTRY husbandman Dr. M. W. Olsen studies turkey embryos to obtain information on causes of unsatisfactory fertility.

FIGHT AGAINST DISEASE

PENICILLIN is injected by Dr. C. G. Grey, left, into the wattles of a turkey which has become infected with the swine-erysipelas organism, to which turkeys as well as swine are susceptible.

Assault And Battery

Added retribution coming out of the incident at Camp Ah-tah-wah on the Thunder Lake road Friday evening when two men were stopped and forced to get out and open the trunk of their car, resulted in justice court Saturday morning.

Jake "Pop" Vatcher, owner of the camp, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was fined $50 and costs.

Asked by the court to explain the strange incident in which Lloyd Pruitt and Irvin Small of Indianapolis, were halted at the point of a gun and subjected to search, Vatcher stated that he had long been disturbed by illegal shooting on his premises and that last year a deer, belonging to one of his guests, had been stolen. He knew the thief by sight and also that he drove a car with an Indiana license. When this Indiana car came along he said suspicion was again aroused. He said he had nothing to do with the gun play and that he did not possess a gun.

He was given a stern reprimand by the judge who termed the incident not only an inexcusable usurpation of the law, but it had placed those subjected to the ordeal in serious jeopardy. The guns might have accidentally been discharged and a person with a heart ailment might have collapsed, he said.

Vatcher stated, as he paid the fine that he was very sorry that it had happened.

On Friday afternoon, Louis Minier and Sam Stewart, both of Detroit, confessed that they had wielded the guns and each drew fines of $50 and $5 costs. Both of these men were the insignia of a Detroit sportsman's club on the sleeves of their mackinaws.

This Is A Story
About Three Bears

This is a story about three bears, but it isn't a fairy tale and Goldilocks had nothing to do with it. The names of the parties involved is not known but the incident is vouchered for by a tavern keeper in the Thunder Lake area.

Anyway, three hunters killed three bears, the animals all being denuded together. The animals were hung up and dressed and then the hunters, in great glee, went to the tavern to celebrate. Returning to their camp later in the evening they found their camp in ruins. Fire had destroyed their tent, bedding, camp equipment and even their guns.

All that was left was the three bears.

Mississippi Was Home of Giants

New York—A place in Mississippi where living things grew to gigantic size 75,000,000 years ago has been discovered.

Scientists who study the past life of this planet are used to dwarf or pygmy animals discovered as fossils, but Dr. Paul H. Dunn, geologist of Mississippi State College, told the Geological Society of America about ancient creatures that are five times or more the usually normal size.

A fossil known as a cephalopod was five feet in diameter whereas the usual fossil of this sort is only several inches. An oyster-like prehistoric creature, called a rudist, was more than a foot and a half long compared with the normal few inches.

Football Bowl Picture Shaping Up

By WILL GRIMSLEY

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Two of the fancier bowls—Rose and Cotton—may choose their Jan. 1 line-up today, but fans must wait another week to learn the rival attractions in Dixie's Sugar and Orange fixtures.

Northwestern needs only the Big Nine's formal tap to start making plans for the Pasadena junket.

The Pacific Coast Conference, meanwhile, is polling members on whether California or Oregon shall furnish the Wildcats' opposition in the Rose pageant.

Northwestern qualified for the assignment by lashing Illinois, Saturday, 20-7, and finishing second in the conference to Michigan, which is ineligible to do a repeat job at Pasadena.

The west coast decision is tougher. California and Oregon closed in a tie for the conference championship. But Oregon lost to Michigan outside while California went all the way without a blemish.

Southern Methodist clinched the host spot in the Cotton bowl at Dallas by humbling Baylor, 13-6. Today the Mustang players vote on their opponent from a list of available teams submitted by the bowl committee.

Oklahoma, North Carolina, Georgia and Clemson are reported high in favor with the southwesters. But the availability of these teams is a question mark.

Sponsors of the lucrative Sugar bowl game at New Orleans and the Orange bowl at Miami, who have delayed the announcements until this coming weekend, may have some strings attached to the list.

The Sugar and Orange groups have an agreement not toicker with the Southeastern Conference teams until the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Southeastern teams still in the bowl picture, besides Georgia, are Tulane and Mississippi, each with only one setback. Besides, this final heavy week could change things considerably for the present leading candidates.

Oklahoma, the Big Seven champion, plays a formidable Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater. Georgia takes on its intrastate rival, Georgia Tech. Clemson has two games left, with Auburn and The Citadel. Tulane must hurdle Louisiana State. Mississippi must conquer Mississippi State. North Carolina faces Virginia.

Oklahoma came out of Saturday's firing with greatly increased stature as a result of its smashing 60-7 triumph over Kansas for the Big Seven championship. The Sooners may be able to pick their bowl spot.

Michigan, California and Clemson won their tests while the other two members of the Big Five perfect list—Army and Notre Dame—were idle.

The other bowls are lining up their programs right along. The Dixie in Birmingham has signed Wake Forest and has several feelers out for an opponent. The Delta bowl in Memphis has William and Mary as one attraction. Texas Mines is headed for the Sun bowl on El Paso.

Buckeyes Tough But U-M Class Cops 13-3 Classic; Oosterbaan 'Very Happy'

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 22 (AP)—Modest Ben Oosterbaan expressed "very great happiness" today in Michigan's second consecutive perfect football season and packed his bags for a two-week vacation.

"Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful," was his assessment of the Wolverine squad that climaxed the season Saturday with Michigan's 23rd consecutive victory by standing off the furious assault of a souped-up Ohio State club 13-3.

"That Ohio club was 'way up' with the desire to upset us," he said, "and they were great. It took plenty of poise and guts to beat them."

Reflecting the champion's strain at being the chief target for the upset hopes of nine consecutive opponents, the Michigan coach planned two weeks of anonymous relaxation before tackling the speaking dates that will keep him busy throughout next month.

The super-charged Bucs, riding the crest of one of the biggest build-ups that football happy Columbus has ever staged, punched out everything but a touchdown.

Their first period field goal by End Jimmy Haggard and the statistical edge the Bucks ran up would have given Wes Fesler's boys a decision if they had been able to stage off Michigan's two knock-out punches.

But the brilliant Wolverine defense held the Ohio off by sheer dint of back-to-the-wall guts. And the Michigan offense finally came to the rescue with two well-engineered touchdown drives, one in the second period and one in the final.

The inspired Bucks, led by Fullback Joe Whisler and Halfback Gerry Krall ripped through Michigan for 88 yards on the ground in the first half while stopping the Wolverine offense cold.

But the Oosterbaan defense, best typified by the vicious tackling of the great line-backers, Dick Kempthorn and Danny Dworsky, made them do most of it in the middle of the field.

A Charley Orlmann-to-Rienburg pass was ruled complete for 33-yards at midpoint of the second period and exploded Michigan's aerial game. Pete Elliott tossed to Orlmann for 13 yards. After two tries, Orlmann loosed a long one to Allis, who snatched it from in front of the waiting fingers of two Buck defensemen, outstepped the opposition and raced home around a good block by Leo Kowalski.

The Buckeyes did most of the moving after the intermission but the defenses again arose and Elliott intercepted two passes to stave off the touchdown-hungry opposition.

Between the two interceptions, midway in the final stanza, dependable Wally Teninga took over for the injured Orlmann and sparked a 62 yard drive that ended when Tommy Peterson plunged over from the three for his ninth score of the season and high-scoring honors of the 1948 Michigan club.

It was a great finale for Oosterbaan in his first year at the helm of the club that athletic director Fritz Crisler guided undefeated to a Big Nine title last season. Michigan joined Illinois and Minnesota as the only clubs in the 63 year history of the Western Conference to collect two undisputed league titles in a row.

MSC Out To Top Scoring Record At Santa Clara

East Lansing, Nov. 22 (AP)—With the 40-0 score rolled up against Washington State Saturday, Michigan State now has a terrific total of 50 touchdowns for the first nine games this season.

The Spartans have 338 points to date—a modern school record—and are eyeing the season's finale with Santa Clara in hopes of breaking the all-time record of 390 points set in 1904.

Saturday's shutout was the last home game of the season for left half George Guerre, who leads the MSC backs in ground-gaining with 719 yards net. Although the coaches are sorry to lose Guerre, they are thanking the rules of eligibility for leaving his running mate from Flint, Lynn Chandnois, around for another season.

Chandnois, an "iron man" right half who plays both offensive and defensive ball, is second in the net yardage with 632 for the season. The uneven contest Saturday was the fourth in a row in which the Spartans have hit the 40 point mark. And it was typical in that three touchdowns were called back by penalties—two of them on sensational runs by Flint's Jesse Thomas.

MSC struck early for three touchdowns in the first period. The second period was scoreless as the Cougars put up their best defensive stand of the game.

Although Biggie Munn cleared the bench to let the substitutes take over in the last half, the second stringers added three more scores to prove that they may be potent in future ball games.

It was the third time this year the Spartans have shown little respect for western - style football. Earlier in the season they beat Arizona 61-7 and Oregon State 46-21.

DARTBALL SCHEDULE

The Escanaba dartball schedule for this week follows: Tuesday night, City League—St. Stephens at Immanuel Lutheran, Bethany at Central Methodist; Wednesday night, City League—Editors at Firemen, Gladstone No. 2 at Eagles, Press at Gladstone No. 1.

The North Carolina State basketball team this season features nine regulars from the powerful 1947-48 quintet.

Wildcats Jubilant Over Bowl Prospect After Tipping Illini

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 22 (AP)—Northwestern's football squad and 8,000 students, looking ahead to the Rose Bowl, massed in frenzied celebrations today.

Having had little to shout about since the Wildcats won the Big Nine crown in 1936, students let off a full head of steam. Some 3,500 fraternity and sorority members prepared to string picket lines throughout the campus to keep class rooms empty, shouting "School's out for the day!" They expected little trouble with their class mates trying to break through.

Charles Wright, president of the students governing board, proclaimed a strike against studies for the day. Plans were made for the spontaneous uprising last night along "fraternity row" and the celebrants were ready to "take over the town" with snake parades and hullabaloo through the streets.

The high-spirited demonstrations climaxed Northwestern's windup Saturday with a 20-7 blasting of Illinois. The win gave the Cats runner-up spot in the Big Nine with a 5-1 record. It set them up as the logical conference representative for the New Year's Day classic in Pasadena where Illinois and Michigan walked off with lopsided triumphs the past two seasons.

The Rose Bowl chatter all but drowned out Michigan's splendid 1948 campaign of repeating for the Big Nine crown and remaining undefeated through a 23-game stretch starting in 1946.

OREGON OR CALIFORNIA
Los Angeles, Nov. 22 (AP)—Will Oregon or California represent the Pacific Coast conference in the Rose Bowl?

At almost any moment today Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt is expected to announce the decision of the faculty representatives of the 10 conference schools.

If the coast conference professors should vote a 5-5 tie, the nod would go to Oregon. That's because a conference rule says that in case of a tie the team which hasn't been in the Rose Bowl for the longest time should get the green light. California last appeared in the Bowl in 1938 but Oregon hasn't been there since 1920.

This year California won six conference games and Oregon won seven.

California's conference point total was 155 to opponents' 40 and Oregon's was 125 to opponents' 48.

Lions Upset Steelers; Packers Humiliated By New York In 49-3 Rout

Detroit, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Detroit Lions didn't take time for any celebration today after their 17 to 14 National football league triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

They have a Thursday morning date in Briggs Stadium with the defending champion Chicago Cardinals and there's work to do—lots of it.

But they had a new lease on life as they pitched into the brief tune-up routine.

Morale was moving up after Detroit's second victory in any NFL starts under coach Bo McMillin. And indications were that the verdict over the Steelers also would be felt at the boxoffice between now and Thursday's collision with the Cardinals.

Only 16,189 fans turned out in shivery weather for Sunday's struggle with the Steelers and they found out why. Bill Dudley, spectacular Detroit halfback, deserves his rave notices.

Dudley scored both the Detroit touchdowns as Pittsburgh fumbles contributed direct bearing to each score.

On the most spectacular play of the game Dudley scooped up a fumble by Charles Seabright, Steeler quarterback, and sprinted 23 yards for Detroit's second touchdown and what proved to be the winning margin.

Earlier Dudley made a brilliant leaping grab of Rookie Fred Enke's 19-yard pass for the first Detroit touchdown. That also followed a Steeler fumble by Rookie Ray Evans, recovered on the Pittsburgh 20 by Cecil Souders, Detroit end.

Those two payoff thrusts, plus center Merv Pregulman's 33-yard first half field goal, proved barely enough to put the Lions on the winning side.

PACKER COLLAPSE
Milwaukee, Nov. 22—A late November darkness settled over state fair park late in the third quarter of Sunday's football game between the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants and a lot of the carnage was mercifully hidden from view.

And carnage it was, terrible carnage as the Packers, succumbing once again to their Milwaukee jinx, were utterly crushed in their worst defeat in all history, 49-3.

Green Bay's appearance here against the Cardinals was bad. The appearance against Washington was worse. But the appearance yesterday—oh me, oh my. This was almost fantastic. And this was suffered at the hands of a team that has had 305 points scored against it, that had won only two out of eight starts, and that went into the game only one game out of last place in the eastern division of the league.

Green Bay scored first. Ted Fritsch kicked a 24-yard field goal in an otherwise scoreless first quarter. Thereafter it became a collapse, a rout, and finally an annihilation much worse than that suffered at the hands of the Bears in Green Bay early in the season.

Chuck Conerly, just out of Mississippi where last year he set all manner of collegiate scoring records which Stan Heath has been breaking with a passing attack that gave the 12,639 fans one of the finest shows of this kind they have ever seen and that had the Packers bumping into each other trying to stop it. Conerly threw the ball 30 times and completed 20 for 291 yards and after he retired in the fourth quarter, Paul Governali threw six more and completed four more for 43 yards. For the afternoon, then, the Giants completed 24 out of 36 for 334 yards—and that was enough.

THE NEW YORK RANGERS boast the only bespectacled—Clint Al-bright—and mustachioed—Don Raleigh—players in the National Hockey League.

The North Carolina State basketball team this season features nine regulars from the powerful 1947-48 quintet.

Canadien Goalie Is 'Mr. Zero' Himself, Red Wings Discover

Detroit, Nov. 22 (AP)—Bill Durnan is "Mr. Zero" himself, as far as the Detroit Red Wings are concerned.

The classy Montreal goal tender whitewashed Detroit 3 to 0 last night for the third time this season in their four National Hockey league meetings.

Durnan had his troubles, but they didn't appear on the score board.

Late in the opening stanza a shot from Detroit's Jerry Couture popped up into Durnan's face and knocked out two teeth. The accident stopped the game temporarily, but it didn't stop Durnan.

Referee Bill Chadwick simply moved up the 10-minute between-periods intermission to permit the Montreal goalie to get his first aid and tackled the last minute and a half of the opening stanza onto the front end of the second period.

Durnan was just as air-tight plugging the nets after the accident as he was before. Altogether he turned away 27 Red Wings shots to cement his shutout.

The defeat failed to dislodge Detroit from its league-leading tie with Boston, for the Bruins also lost to the Rangers in New York. But it moved Montreal up to within a half game of the leaders and drew the three-way race up tight.

SOFTBALL IS FAST BALL
Flint, Mich., Nov. 22 (AP)—Fans who watch National Fast Ball league games next year are promised a fresh zip but pitchers may be in for some headaches. The officials wound up a three-day meeting here yesterday by voting to change the name of their league to the National Fast Ball league and to adopt a livelier ball for the 1949 season.

Escanaba VFW Loses, 81-49

Displaying an aggressive offense and a tight defense, the Ishpeming VFW quintet topped their brother Escanaba VFW cagers, 81-49, in an NWM league tilt in the William Bonifas gym here yesterday afternoon. Mike's Bar tipped Liberty Loan, 50-32, in the opener.

Stan Sosnoski, Tom St. Germain and A. Gagliardi led the invaders with 21, 14 and 13 points, respectively and Jim Kessler was kingpin for the home five with 16 points. Don Lewis came through with 11. Ishpeming led, 42-20, at halftime.

The Escanabans were far off the form they displayed in opening NWM games. Their passing was ragged and frequently their defense collapsed, leaving an Ishpeming player in the open for an easy goal.

Acceptance of MSC In Big 9 Seen As 'Virtual Certainty'

Chicago, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Daily News said it had learned that acceptance of Michigan State college as the tenth member of the Big Nine is a "virtual certainty."

"At present, members stand 5-to-4 in favor of admittance," the News said. It declared the vote is expected to shift to 6 to 3 in favor of the Spartans when the Big Nine holds its annual meeting here in December.

"The members will consider this as the first order of business along with schedules, rules and the controversial scholarship law," the News said.

Visiting Quint Outclassed By Trojans, 49-26

Taking advantage of loopholes in the opposition's defense and displaying a fast break that clicked most of the time, the St. Joseph's parochial school Trojans opened their basketball season by overwhelming Bark River-Harris, 49 to 26, at William Bonifas gym Saturday night.

St. Joe's passing was reasonably efficient for the opening game, and its zone defense proved effective against Bark River thrusts sparked by the Good boys, Vernon and James, but perhaps the highlight of the game was the Trojan's accurate shooting. Their percentage was very high.

The Trojans felt Bark River out with a 12-7 first quarter and then went into a 13-4 second-quarter blast and a 16-5 third-quarter surge that left the visitors far in their wake. Bark River outscored the home five, 10-8, however, in the finale.

Jack Miron was a power under the basket for St. Joe. He topped the scorers with 14 points, and Gerald Harris collected 12 during their stints out short by considerable action on the part of the second five during the last half.

Jim and Vernon Good scored 12 and seven points, respectively, for Bark River.

The fine showing of the Trojans added considerable zest to the clash here next Saturday night between St. Joe and the Escanaba Eskimos. At this writing it is rated a tossup, inasmuch as the Eskimos of 1948-49 are an unknown quantity to date.
